Courthouse Needs Elevator, Judge Rules; May Order One

Said Essential For Efficient Operation

Commissioners, Citing Lack of Funds, Oppose $33,000 Project

Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith ruled today that an elevator in the Marion County Courthouse is "not only a necessary facility for the efficient performance of the functions of the courts, but is convinced that the installation will be a progressive step toward securing physical facilities so badly needed by most other county offices."

This morning's ruling by Judge Smith followed a hearing yesterday on a motion filed by the Marion Bar Association requesting the court to review courthouse facilities, and to specifically inquire into the necessity of an elevator to transport people from the first floor to the second and third floors of the courthouse.

Testimony at the hearing placed the estimated cost of an elevator and necessary shafts at about $33,000.

A journal entry was expected to be filed later today ordering the Marion County Commissioners to "provide a satisfactory elevator."

In making the ruling as to the necessity of the elevator, the Court cited opinions handed down by the Supreme Court of Ohio on Feb. 10, 1943, in the case of Zangerle vs. Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, which said:

Name Tells Main Purpose

"The primary and paramount purpose of a courthouse, as its name implies, is to furnish the rooms and facilities essential for the proper and efficient performance of the functions of the court. Courts of general jurisdiction . . . possess all powers necessary to secure and safeguard the free and untrammeled exercise of their judicial functions and cannot be directed, controlled or impeded therein by other branches of the government."

U.S. Reply to Communist Truce Proposal Awaited

Congressman Spots Joker In Red Offer

Rep. Short Labels Neutral Commission As Pro-Communist

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Short (R-Mo) said today the latest Communist truce proposals for Korea contain a "Trojan horse" and he predicted the Eisenhower administration will reject them.

He also said in an interview that France's reluctance to send the French Indochina War to the United Nations may have an "adverse effect" on Congress, which has been asked to increase Indochina aid this year.

The Communists proposed leaving in Korea the 48,500 prisoners who reportedly refuse to return to Communist territory. They would be placed under a commission comprised of representatives from Sweden, Switzerland, Poland, Czechoslovakia and India.

Short, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, called India a "Trojan horse" and said she would hold the decisive vote. "I don't think India is neutral," he said.

He added he did not believe Secretary of State Dulles "will fall for

8-Point Plan Studied At White House

Expect Counter-offer Will Be Dispatched To Panmunjom

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Allied truce negotiators today awaited instructions from Washington on how to answer the Communists' latest Korean armistice proposal—an eight-point plan aimed at breaking the prisoner exchange deadlock.

The Reds unveiled their offer unexpectedly yesterday and it went right to the top for decision.

The plan would set up a five-nation commission to take custody in Korea of 48,500 Red prisoners who refuse to return to communism.

With negotiations here in recess until 11 a.m. Saturday (9 p.m., EST Friday), President Eisenhower discussed the offer with his top state and military advisers in Washington.

They reportedly decided some provisions are unacceptable, but that the plan merits a counter-offer even though the Communists indicated they consider it a package deal, all or nothing.

One big question is the possibil-

goes on to say that such courts "may pass upon the suitability and sufficiency of quarters and facilities for their occupation and use, and may exercise control over the courthouse to the extent required to assure the provisions, equipment and maintenance in the courthouse of rooms and facilities essential for their proper and efficient operation."

In yesterday's hearing, the Court heard testimony from members of the Bar Association and other interested persons who testified to the need of an elevator.

Also heard were the county commissioners, who opposed installation of an elevator.

Cite Lack of Money

The commissioners, although agreeing that an elevator would be useful, claimed they did not have the money for such an installation. They were represented by County Prosecutor Ralph E. Carhart, while the Bar Association committee's counsel was Howard F. Guthery.

County Auditor Maurice Clements was on the stand for more than an hour giving testimony on the county's financial condition for the last several years.

In Clements' testimony, it was brought out that the county began the year of 1953 with a surplus of approximately $28,000, and the year of 1952 with a surplus of $54,156, and 1951 was begun with a surplus of $70,046.

Others testifying on the need for an elevator were C. C. Holliday, state sales tax examiner who has his offices on the third floor of the courthouse. County Treasurer Marion D. Hinklin, who told the Court that "several hundred" persons come to his office each day. Juvenile and Probate Court Judge Edward J. Ruzzo, who termed his court facilities "very inadequate" because of the lack of courtroom.

Ray Reidenbaugh, chairman of the commissioners' board, expressed the board's belief that an elevator was needed, but cited the lack of money for such an improvement.

Court's Ruling

In Judge Smith's ruling, he said: "It seems clear to the Court that the evidence discloses, and the Court has noted and must take judicial notice of the fact, that without some mechanical means of transportation from Floor No.

Making up the fourth division will be the Harding High School band and Armed Forces equipment.

Plans are also complete for an open house at the Marion Engineer Depot. The celebration there will get under way at 1 p.m. Saturday, May 16.

The Depot will be open to the public from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday and free no stop bus service from the courthouse to the Depot will be made available to those without transportation.

Exhibits at the Depot will include the latest Air Force, ordnance, quartermaster and engineer equipment now being used by the Armed Forces. Movies will be shown to illustrate the use of the equipment.

Depot officers said the displays would be held in two new buildings at the depot in order not to be hindered by inclement weather.

Dazzling Flash Marks Latest Atomic Blast

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—An atomic test device exploded with a flash that out-dazzled the daylight at 10:30 a. m. EST today at the Nevada Proving Grounds.

The lingering flash, plainly visible in this resort-gambling city 75 miles away, indicated that this the eighth detonation in the atomic Energy Commission's spring series, was one of the brightest.

The atomic mushroom cloud formed immediately.

Two and a half minutes after the detonation a beautiful cloud soared upward to about 25,000 feet. First indications were that the blast took place at Frenchman Flat, and that it was a tower shot or an extremely low air drop.

The tremor from the shot reached Las Vegas about five minutes afterward.

Elaborate preparations for obtaining information on blast effects on various facilities were set up but the AEC did not immediately indicate which were affected by today's shot.

A transplanted pine forest, railroad trestles, vehicles and structures were on the proving grounds.

Fifteen congressmen were official witnesses for today's test in which 2,000 Army troops were dug in 9,800 yards away. Previously troops have been as close as 2,500 yards.

Six minutes after the blast the huge white cloud with pink touches appeared to begin a separation. After 10 minutes it had taken on an hour-glass shape.

It began drifting to the southeast.

that plan."

Rep. Vorys of Ohio, a senior Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said in a separate interview the proposed commission "looks like it will be neutral on the Communist side."

"India," he added, "has taken the Communist viewpoint on how the prisoners should be handled."

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) called the proposed commission a "stacked deck" because, he declared, India has supported the Red position on Korean issues 80 per cent of the time.

"This is only another plan to put India in charge of the prisoners," Knowland said. "The result would be proselyting of the prisoners from only one side—the Communist side."

Senators Sparkman (D-Ala) and H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), like Knowland members of the foreign relations committee, said they regarded India as neutral. But Smith said such satellites as Poland and Czechoslovakia should not be on the commission. And Sparkman said the line-up was "clearly unbalanced."

Short said France had chosen "poor strategic timing," in notifying the U. S. it was opposed to placing the Indochina battle before the U. N.

"I didn't like the French action, which is the result of their colonial policy," Short said.

He added he thought other congressmen would have the same feeling when they consider an estimated 600 million dollars in aid to Indochina for the next business year.

State Department officials made plain yesterday they did not accept the French note as the final answer on the question.

Considered Include Manslaughter, Fraud

Charges ranging from manslaughter, and breaking and entering and attempted rape, to fraud, will be considered by the Marion County Grand Jury when it convenes Monday, Prosecutor Ralph E. Carhart reported today.

Facing the breaking and entering and attempted rape charge is Howard Earl Edington, 23, of 358 Milburn Ave., who was found with stab wounds in his chest, arm and back on April 5, which subsequently were revealed to have been inflicted by 17-year-old Mrs. Robert A. Lovell.

Mrs. Lovell told police she had stabbed Edington when he attempted to attack her in the bedroom of her residence.

Edington, in a preliminary hearing conducted yesterday afternoon before Judge W. Dexter Hazen in Municipal Court, entered a not guilty plea and was bound over to the Grand Jury.

The manslaughter charge, against Philip Hall of 650 Uncapher Ave., resulted from an accident Nov. 16, 1952, when the automobile he was driving struck and seriously injured a pedestrian who later died. The victim was Lawrence Courtney, 57, of near Prospect, who was supervising the removal of his son's car which had crashed on Route 203 near Green Camp the previous evening.

Also to be considered by the Grand Jury are charges of unarmed robbery against Paul H. Waycaster, 32, of Columbus, and Charles R. Wilson, 37, of Chicago. They were arrested May 1 and charged with robbing A. W.

Quarantine On Dogs To Start Monday

Days of freedom for all dogs in Marion will be over beginning Monday.

On the recommendation of Health Commissioner Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, the City Health Board voted Thursday to order the start of the annual dog quarantine beginning Monday, May 11.

The quarantine means that every dog, licensed or unlicensed, muzzled or unmuzzled, rabies vaccinated or unvaccinated, found running loose on the streets of the city will be picked up by the dog warden, police department or their agents. They will then be confined to the dog pound for 10 days at the expense of their owner.

If at the end of the 10 days, the dog is found free of rabies, it may be returned to the owner.

The period of the quarantine is indefinite and will not be lifted until such time the Board of Health feels all danger of rabies has passed.

The President, here on a four-hour visit during which he addressed two Republican dinners, said Korean prisoners are entitled to the "right of political asylum."

"To force these people to go back to a life of terror and persecution is something that would violate every moral standard by which America lives," he declared. "It cannot be done."

Within such limits of "moral rectitude and rightness," he said, "there is no one that will ever find America's hand of friendship hidden."

"It will always be extended," Eisenhower said. "It will be ready to meet any one half-way as long as these (moral principles) and not mere words are there to substantiate the sincerity of their purpose."

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, also addressing the $100-a-plate Republican affair, said the United Nations Command is "not prepared indefinitely to continue truce talks with the Communists in Korea."

"We earnestly desire and seek an honorable peace in Korea. But we shall not allow our enemies there to use peace talk as a stratagem for gaining military advantages in their war of aggression," he said.

Dulles termed it a "shocking thing" that Soviet Russia thus far has refused to agree to a postwar settlement restoring Austria, "the first victim of Hitlerite aggression," to independence.

Because of the size of the Republican gathering, it had to be split into two hotel ballrooms—1,200 at the Astor and 2,500 at the Waldorf-Astoria.

In parallel talks to both groups, Eisenhower sketched the aims of

Propaganda Barrage Urges Unity on Home Front

Signs of Possible Internal Crisis Seen in Russia

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

A campaign for internal unity, begun just after Premier Georgi M. Malenkov took over, has reached such a furious peak in the Soviet press as to suggest some sort of internal crisis. This campaign may explain the sometimes bewildering Soviet peace offensive, as well as a tightening up of the Soviet Communist party and government.

By the beginning of May, almost every domestic item in Soviet organs had something to do with the theme of the "inviolable unity of the Soviet people."

Interwoven was the theme of the superiority of the Russian people proper and the debt owed them by peoples of the 15 other Soviet republics. The press inveighed violently against "bourgeois nationalism"—meaning nationalism in any dependent Soviet republic—and "cosmopolitanism," an old description of Jews with Zionist leanings.

Repeated over and over again was this theme: "So long as the friendship of peoples exists and flourishes, we need fear no enemies, internal or external." But the press says "Agents of imperialism, bourgeois nationalism and cosmopolitanism must be unmasked and eliminated."

Other articles explain how workers from far-flung Soviet provinces work together on hydroelectric stations and major construction. They tell how "with the brotherly help of the great Russian people, all the peoples of the USSR achieved notable successes and economic and cultural building."

There is great stress on "rights" guaranteed by the Soviet constitution, and upon the idea of "equal rights of all races and nations."

The home front propaganda suggests that with Stalin's death there were restless stirrings among the peoples of the Ukraine, White Russia, the three Baltic states and the republics of Central Asia. All are being mentioned specifically.

This may explain the general tightening up under the Malenkov regime. Each republic government got a shakeup. Russians took over key positions in the republic governments, and the security forces were overhauled in each. The Communits party itself apparently was pruned of unreliable elements.

This also could explain the peace offensive. Previous peace campaigns were aimed primarily at convincing people abroad of peaceful Soviet intentions. This one seems equally concerned with convincing the people at home that war is not at hand.

In the shadow of possible war, two things might have happened within the Soviet republics. The war threat might have brought on the traditional fatalistic Oriental attitude—war is coming, so why slave? Two, it could have led those "remnants" of nationalists, of whom the press speaks, to hope their cause is not lost. The thought of the Soviet Union embroiled in war might have recalled the mass defections of the last war, even to the dreaded German enemy.

In all this there is a confusing mixture—a retreat from Stalinism but a retention of Stalinism's more aggressive aspects. The Soviet press seems to be preaching more Lenin than Stalin to Communists abroad.

ity of a hidden gimmick permitting the Reds to get back the 48,500 prisoners who say they won't return to communism. The Allies always have insisted that no one would be repatriated against his will.

Key points of the new Red plan include:

1. Acceptance of Allied demands that prisoners unwilling to return be left in Korea after an armistice, rather than transported to a neutral country.

2. Creation of a five-country "Neutral Nation Repatriation Commission" of India, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland and Sweden, to take custody of those prisoners after an armistice.

3. Each of the five nations would send equal numbers of troops to Korea to control the prisoners.

Eisenhower and his advisers reportedly object most strongly to this point, which would permit the Communist troops of Russian satellites Poland and Czechoslovakia to watch over the prisoners, many of whom are violently anti-Communist.

4. After four months of Red "explanations" to the unwilling prisoners, leaving the fate of any who still refuse repatriation to a post-armistice, high-level political conference.

The President and his advisers also were reported opposed to this, on grounds that the prisoners might be held an unreasonable time if the problem is not settled quickly.

Eisenhower also was reported to be awaiting advice from Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. Far East commander, before instructing the delegates at Panmunjom.

The Communist offer opened a new path in the lengthy stalemate over prisoner exchange, last major barrier to a Korean cease-fire.

The Allies broke off the talks last Oct. 8 because the Communists would not come up with an acceptable plan for exchange, but reopened them April 26 after the Reds suggested a neutral caretaker for prisoners who refuse to go home.

Communists Continue To Pull Out of Laos

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—The end of the Communist invasion of Loas—without a major battle and virtually without casualties—seemed to be just around the corner today. So far it had been one of history's strangest tries at conquest.

Communist-led Vietminh troops which overran one-third of the Indo-chinese kingdom in a 25-day march were continuing to pull out of the heart of the little mountain state, heading toward the Black and Upper Red Rivers in Northwestern Indochina—their original jump-off bases.

$5 Million Expansion Program At Marion Training School Described By Welfare Director Lamneck

By GARY SAMS

Eight new buildings and extensions to four present buildings will make up the second expansion at the Marion Training School.

Judge John Lamneck, state public welfare director, and Lamoyne Green, training school superintendent, revealed details of the expansion in an interview Thursday following Lamneck's address to the Marion Kiwanis Club at Hotel Harding. He talked to the group on Ohio's penal program.

The second expansion, provided in the General Assembly's $2,500,000 emergency prison appropriation, will cost $5,000,000.

It will include six more two-floor dormitory buildings, a drill hall, a vocational training shop, and extensions to the present library, receiving wing, power plant and custodial service buildings.

Construction on a current $3,500,000 expansion project is nearly half completed at the school now. Under construction now are a power plant, five two-floor dormitory buildings, a receiving room, a segregation room, a library building and a custodial service building.

Some 15 to 18 more acres of land will be enclosed inside the fence with completion o fthe newest project. At present, some 41 acres are enclosed by fence.

There are some 53 employees, guards, teachers, maintenance and custodial help, at the Training School now. Approximately 200 more employees will be needed when the new project is completed.

When the present construction is completed, the training school will have room for 750 men. The second addition will make room for 1,500 men.

Lamneck said the department of public works would advertise immediately for bids for the new facilities and that the contracts would be let in some six to eight weeks. Construction would begin right away and would be completed in a year or more.

The buildings, all to be connected, will be constructed of red brick.

In his Kiwanis talk, Lamneck announced that plans had been completed for construction of additional prison facilities in Ohio. Other facilities are a new $725,000 dormitory at London Prison Farm; a $250,000 dormitory at Lebanon; an additional $175,000 dormitory at Roseville; and a new $1,450,000 hospital building at Apple Creek to make the Lima State Hospital available as a penal institution only.

In his talk to members of the Kiwanis Club, Lamneck said there was only one real reason for prisons—to protect society—and said society must do more than just arrest and place a violator in a penal institution. To fully protect society, there must be a program to rehabilitate the violator, making him a better person when he comes out than when he went in, Lamneck said, and this can only be accomplished by segregation by institutions and within the institution itself.

Lamneck traced the history of penal institutions in Ohio and told of the over crowded conditions. He said Ohio in the past has not provided prison facilities to meet the demands and the increased population of the state and that nearly six times as many persons, in proportion to the population, are being confined today compared with 1850.

Lamneck told the group that the new facilities should reduce Ohio penitentiary population figure to where it belongs. He said at the present time, there are some 4,000 persons in the Ohio penitentiary, which is designed to accommodate some 2,400 prisoners, and that cells which should not hold more than two persons hold four.

He said segregation would be based on mentality, the crime and the ability to be trained. Lamneck said the training school would be a training school for younger offenders.

Music entertainment at the Kiwanis luncheon was provided by Miss Elizabeth Johnson on the violin, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Goebel on the piano. The two members of the Lecture Recital Club were at the meeting in connection with National Music Week.

Guests at the meeting were G. Farr Larie of Marion, a former Kiwanis president; Reuben Gaylor of Auburn, Ala.; Lamoyne Green, Dr. Kenneth Bonham, a missionary to Indian on furlough, and the Rev. Ashley Booth of Marion.

British Expedition On Slopes of Everest

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Reports reaching this Nepalese capital today said a British expedition seeking to climb unconquered Mount Everest has reached the 21,000-foot level and is awaiting favorable weather before climbing higher.

The reports said the expedition, headed by Col. John Hunt, has established the fourth of the eight camps it expects to use in trying to scale the 29,002-foot Himalayan peak, the world's tallest.

The expedition plans a two-man push for the top sometime after May 15, the exact date depending on weather conditions.

No climbers have ever scaled the towering, windswept peak of Mount Everest and returned to tell about it. At least 10 previous teams have made the attempt.

No Takers For "Silver Bullet"

WASHINGTON (AP)—It begins to look as if the U. S. will have to shop around some place other than the Korean War zone if it wants to buy a Soviet-made MIG15 jet fighter.

The $100,000 offer Gen. Mark Clark made a dozen days ago for the first MIG delivered intact to the U. S. Air Force—with asylum for the pilot—still stands—uncollected, with no takers sighted.

Asked about the matter today, an Air Force spokesman had his immediate reply: "no MIG has been surrendered yet."

Was a propaganda element involved in the "silver bullet" offer to any MIG pilot defecting from his Communist government and turning over himself and his plane to American custody?

"We want a MIG," said the spokesman.

The Air Force has accumulated a highly useful amount of knowledge about the MIG, even without having an intact plane in its possession. But only actual test flying by American pilots can tell the whole story of the capabilities—and defects—of the swift, hard-hitting Russian-built fighter.

Almost daily encounters with the Red jets over North Korea during the last two years have provided American air tacticians and plane designers with a quantity of information about the speed, rate of climb, maneuver and firepower characteristics of the plane.

To that information have been added deductions made by aerodynamic designers from the wreckage of a MIG15 recovered by United Nations forces along the North Korean coast over a year ago.

South Carolina's coastal plain is called the "low country" and its piedmont the "high country."

Hollywood Will Film Life Story Of Congressman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Frank ("Everything is made for love") Boykin of Alabama said today he has yielded to Hollywood pressure to film the story of his life.

Now 68 and silver-haired, the one-time waterboy on a railroad said the script is written and the contract awaits his signature. He declined to name the company.

He said filming will begin when this session of Congress ends and will include a scene re-enacting his proposal to his wife—after jumping from a horse to the train she was riding through Malcolm, Ala.

"Everything is made for love" has been his motto for 40 years, he said. It has been booming in capital corridors since he came to the House from Mobile, Ala., 18 years ago.

New Australian Governor General

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—Britain's Field Marshal Sir William Slim was sworn in today as Governor General of the Australian Commonwealth during a 12-minute Senate ceremony.

The 61-year-old World War II hero, who stepped down from his top military post as Chief of the British Imperial General Staff, succeeds Sir William John McKell, governor general since 1947.

Inside Labor

Labor Ranks Split

By Victor Riesel

In the early moments of Gen. Eisenhower's "first 100 days," the usually calm and poker-faced Sen. Taft lost his temper just once amid the pressures of helping to launch a new administration.

RIESEL

This came early one morning when five Democratic labor and civic leaders came to tell the senator that they wanted an end to the rules which permitted senatorial filibustering. Mr. Republican listened to his visitors including Roy Reuther, brother of Walter; Joe Rauh, a power in the Americans for Democratic Action, and Jim Carey, secretary treasurer of the CIO.

-:-

AFTER A FEW minutes, the senator opened his office door, turned to the men who had given him such a drubbing in the presidential campaign (remember "Morningside Heights") and invited them out.

But not before he told them, in effect:

"You're Democrats. You worked for the Democrats. The Republicans don't want you coming around now and telling us how to run the government."

About the same time, however, Sen. Taft held a long and friendly talk with AFL chief George Meany on shaping up a new labor law.

And that pattern of enmity for the CIO and a friendly truce with the AFL now is the backdrop for one of the most important political-labor developments of the new administration.

This became apparent to insiders when Sen. Smith, head of the Senate Labor Committee, came out of hearing all the mumbo-jumbo legalistic testimony on Taft-Hartley in the past two months with a bill which would, in essence, lift the most powerful section of the AFL right out from under any labor law.

THE BILL would virtually legalize a closed shop for the entire building and construction industry—and in scores of smaller fields, except in the few states which have regional bans on such contracts.

The building and construction trades section of the AFL, it should be noted, has some 3,000,000 workers in it.

There is no doubt that this bill was worked out with Sen. Taft's labor advisers and Dick Gray, construction trades leader and one of the few Republican AFL chiefs.

Meanwhile, CIO efforts to win some of the government's powerful support have failed.

Sharpest evidence of this can be found in the almost unnoticed (outside of Ohio) CIO Auto Union strike at the General Electric J-47-D Jet Engine plant in Evendale.

A FEW DAYS ago Walter Reuther telegraphed the Senate Labor Committee, urging it to investigate the General Electric Co. on the grounds that some 1,000 jet engines had been lost in the strike.

The company's vice-president, Lem Boulware, retorted that "We are producing, testing and stockpiling jet engines at Evendale against future demands."

Even to those of us who watch this front carefully, it came as a surprise that the plant could stay in production in the midst of a strike called by Walter Reuther's Auto Union.

Except in isolated instances in the South, no plant of any size has been able to keep its lines moving against major union pickets in the past decade.

At the same time Sen. Taft, who exerts the dominant influence on the Senate Labor Committee, said tersely, "I don't think it's the function of a labor committee to investigate any strikes".

Secretary for Air Talbott stayed neutral by saying, "We will not step into the matter. It is something for the union and General Electric to settle."

COMING FROM the Pentagon, this seems to be final policy—neutrality in a strike, even a strike of vital defense weapons. This, too, has no precedent. The previous administrations would have been in weeks ago with fact-finding boards.

At the same time, the White House has not approved John Edelman, who is the CIO's choice for assistant secretary of labor. Edelman has been cleared for security, but apparently is being held up because he represents CIO militant philosophy. Meanwhile, of course, AFL officials run the Labor Department.

There are signs now that the administration has succeeded in splitting the AFL from the CIO despite all talks of a labor merger into one giant federation of 12,000,000 members.

RECENTLY, AFL chief George Meany told a Senate committee that some Communist-dominated labor groups are "trying to get back into the CIO and may find a welcome there now that Phil Murray is dead." It takes no Jim Farley to see the political implications of this as a crack at Reuther.

And, to see that the AFL despite all its talk and political fund raising, may not be too eager to stump the countryside against the Republicans in the 1954 congressional elections.

There's some smart politics being played in Washington.

Right People

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — A deer must sometimes look through pasture bars and wonder if it wouldn't be better to give up his wild ways for the safe, serene life of a cow.

So it is with human renegades. A bank robber now and then muses on whether he might not be more happy if he were a bank president, and earned his biscuit money flourishing a pen instead of a pistol.

We all are afflicted at times with this wistful self-doubt. We tease ourselves by pondering what-might-have-been if, when the road forked a ways back, we had taken the other path.

In my case I wonder whether it isn't perhaps wiser to become one of "the right people." Who are they? The right people are the people who take care never to do anything wrong.

Life for the right people is never a dubious battlefield, whose issue is always in doubt. It is a step by step operation that goes according to play—their plan.

They have no regrets because they make no errors. They know exactly what they want, and therefore they get it.

The right people are never caught out in a rain because they always have an umbrella along when the clouds clabber up. They marry exactly the right mate for them, and live in the right neighborhood. They are never tempted to skylark on the wrong side of the railroad tracks.

They have exactly two Martinis before dinner, and it never occurs to them to dare a third. They buy their theater tickets two months ahead of time, and plan their vacation trips two years in advance. And they know to a gallon how much gasoline their car will use to get them there and back.

They go to the right church but they don't listen to the sermon, for how could it apply to them? But they do pause and congratulate the minister afterward, because its the right thing to do.

The right people write the right-sized checks every year to the right charities—it makes them feel right to do their bit. But they never toss a quarter to a bum, just to see his beaten eyes light up like candles.

Their clothes are always neatly pressed, their pockets are never stuffed with junk. Everything for them has a time and a place, and if it gets out of place it gets put back in its place quick.

They always go to the right little restaurant, and are cozily sure how to order just the right wine. They know the right tip to leave—and they never leave a penny more, a penny less.

Their check stubs always balance, they are never overdrawn at the bank. They never miss a train or a plane, and they know the right time to leave a cocktail party. People who come to their cocktail parties had better leave at the right time, too, or they won't get invited back.

The right people lead lives that are proper, prim and premeditated. They see their dentist twice a year, get a medical checkup every spring, and eat three fresh green vegetables every day. The only thing that ever grabs them by surprise is the common cold, their only real link to ordinary, catch-as-catch-can humanity.

They pay their income tax a month before it is due. They not only have written their wills and bought a plot in a desirable part of the cemetery. They even know what they want carved on their tombstone.

Most men are prisoners of impulse and their lives are a compromise between an instinct for some kind of order and a free-wheeling appetite for pure chaos. So it is with my life, and sometimes the patterned security of the right people seems more desirable.

But never for long. For the trouble with the right people is they have life all wrong. Their biggest mistake is that they never make one. They are the smug vertical dead, upright but not really alive. They plod from goal to goal but lack the gusty adventure to chase an impossible dream. They are afraid to dream, for fear it will break their little patterns.

The all-purpose vitamin pills they consume each day may keep them healthy as a cow in a mead of chlorophyll. But they never nibble on the green moon cheese of illusion, and it is only by feeding on immortal dreams that a man may nourish his spirit, on a plateau beyond the ken of the cow, and become—a human being.

Martha Raye, 4th Husband Separate

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Martha Raye, movie actress and night club entertainer, wants legal separation and maintenance from her fourth husband, Nick Condos.

Miss Raye filed suit in Dade County Circuit Court Thursday alleging Condos beat and mistreated her. She said her "professional standing is in jeopardy" and asked custody of their nine-year-old daughter, Melody.

The suit is "unconnected with divorce," the papers stated, and set forth that Condos refused to speak to her at a party May 3 and afterwards became so violent she had to leave home.

They were married Feb. 22, 1943 in Newark, N. J.

Red China Reveals Economy Plans

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Communist China has given the world a peek at what it hopes to accomplish in this first year of its five year plan. The hopes seemed small by Western standards.

Peiping radio last night broadcast the speech of a party functionary before a session of the "All-China Trade Union Congress," who said capital construction would be "150 per cent above the planned figure for 1952."

Chu Hsueh-fan, vice president of the All-China Federation of Labor, then listed this investment as a new steel rolling factory, a seamless steel tubing mill, equipment for six large power stations, 10 new coal shafts, 15 more oil wells, and 10 new big machine-building factories.

Waldo Team Wins County FFA Contest

Run Up Top Score In Judging Of Cattle and Hogs

A team from Waldo High School won the annual Marion County FFA judging contest held Monday.

The team, composed of Martin Augenstein, Wayne Yake, George Yake and Don Yake, won the contest with 1,886 points. Prospect High School was second with 1,857 points.

Augenstein was individual winner with 494 points.

Judging took place at the Roland Leeper farm northeast of Marion, at the Coliseum, and at Kirkside Farms at Kirkpatrick. Shorthorn and Holstein cattle and hogs owned by Howard Mitchell of Claridon and Charles Mehaffey of Prospect were judged by the county's eight FFA groups.

Ten boys from each school took part in the contest with the four boys with the best scores representing their school team. Boys were judged by vocational agriculture instructors of the county schools who asked them questions about the animals.

Other team scores included: Morral, 1,843; Claridon, 1,817; LaRue, 1,749; Caledonia, 1,704; Pleasant, 1,664; and Meeker, 1,640.

Individual scores included: Roy Loudenslager of Morral, 478; Fred Isler of Prospect, 476; Asa Myers of LaRue, 475; Robert Howser of Claridon, 472; Dick Spracklin of LaRue and Jerry Higgins of Morral, both with 468; Wayne Yake of Waldo, 467; Wayne Seiter of Prospect and Don Yake of Waldo, both with 463; George Yake of Waldo, 462; and Dale Yake of Waldo, 461.

The teams are preparing for the state contest at Ohio State University in June.

County vocational agriculture instructors are Dallas Cornett of Waldo and Pleasant; Ed Parrott of Claridon; John Watkins of Prospect and LaRue; Arch Bishop of Morral; Burdette Hunter of Meeker; and Norman Underwood of Caledonia.

Mystery

By Inez Robb

Man, no matter how dun colored in other parts of the world, is still peacock of the walk in Merrie England, which may be one reason it's Merrie.

INEZ ROBB

The female of the species in the mother country, as elsewhere, may still be more deadly, but the male is far more dressy.

I am in receipt of formal instructions, issued by the Duke of Norfolk, earl marshal and boss of coronation ceremonies, concerning proper dress for guests at the Queen's crowning in Westminster Abbey June 2.

IT IS OBVIOUS from this that the English male, as usual, leads his little woman by a sartorial mile. The instructions for Abbey guests, other than peers and peeresses, fill six long printed pages.

Ladies and their finery rate a scant 56 words of six short lines of text.

All the rest of this verbiage is devoted to the high task of maintaining the plumage of the English male at ten times the brilliancy of the female's, even as in the bird world.

Women in full evening or formal afternoon dress, with or without tiaras, plus a light wrap will get by, says the earl marshal, and wastes no further words on my sex.

But gentlemen have their choice of velvet court dress (new style), velvet court dress (old style), cloth court dress, alternative dress and/or Highland dress.

THE DUKE has left nothing to chance: Here is something for the boys in minute detail and straight from fancy pants.

The duke qualifies as a real gone fashion reporter.

Dig the description of the coat which is de rigeur for velvet court dress (new style):

"Black silk velvet, stand collar, single-breasted. The fronts are cut small and cannot be buttoned; to be worn open. Plain gauntlet cuffs. Pocket flaps with three points.

Ed's note: I'm in a flap already!

"Six buttons up the right front and a similar number of notches or false holes up the left. Two buttons at the waist behind, and two at the bottom of the back skirts. Pockets in the breast and in the tails. Body of the coat should be lined with white silk and the skirts with black.

"Buttons: Cut steel."

THIS, HONEY, is the updated zoot suit with the reet pleat and delusions of grandeur.

With it, the well dressed coronation guest will wear knee breeches of black silk velvet with three small buttons at the knee, black silk hose, and black patent leather pumps with cut steel buckles.

You think the Homburg is snappy, pappy? Listen to the head gear the Britisher wears with the above: "Black beaver cocked hat, with a steel loop on a black silk cockade or rosette." And that ain't all. This boy also gets a sword, "court shape, with fixed guard and drop shell, cut steel hilt and black scabbard with steel mountings."

Add boiled shirt, white tie and gloves and you have Beau Brummell, 1953.

"Alternative dress," if you are dying to know (and I was) is "ordinary black evening dress" with knee pants.

Highland dress has everything. The Scotch clothes horse in addition to kilt, doublet and plaid, is more heavily armored than the Mark VI tank. He will clank in the Abbey complete with a Highland basket hilted sword, dress dirk and, if he is real scared go south of the border, also Highland pistols and powder horn.

However, despite the earl marshal's detailed instruction on Highland dress, he fails to solve, so far as Americans are concerned, the great kilt mystery.

Whether the lads do or do not wear anything under the kilts, deponent sayeth not.

Father Is Charged In Death of Child Swimming Star

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Russell Tongay, bronzed swimming instructor who once was acquitted of charges that he mistreated his swim-star daughter, Kathy, today was accused of causing her death.

Det. Charles A. Sapp of the Miami Homicide Bureau said an autopsy report showed that the flaxen-haired five-year-old child died Wednesday of a ruptured intestine caused by a blow.

A warrant charging the husky, 36-year-old ex-Coast Guardsman with second degree murder was issued Thursday night, minutes after Tongay won release from City Jail on a writ of habeas corpus.

Tongay had been arrested and ordered "held for investigation of murder" two hours earlier after lengthy grilling by Sapp and other officers. Tongay made no admissions during the interrogation, Sapp said.

It was in 1949 that Tongay was tried and acquitted of charges that he had mistreated Kathy. The child swimmer would have been six years old on May 22.

Talks With Ike On Seaway

WASHINGTON (AP)—Canada doesn't "want to waste any more months or years" getting started on the St. Lawrence Seaway, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent says.

So, he declared in an interview yesterday, his country is "not bluffing" about going ahead alone if the U. S. still does not act to participate.

St. Laurent had just conferred with President Eisenhower. He has another White House appointment today.

But he said he and the President "only looked at the subject objectively" and he got neither encouragement nor discouragement from the discussion.

Newsboy Saves Youngster's Life

BALTIMORE (AP)—A quick-thinking newspaper boy is credited with saving the life of a youngster by putting a tourniquet around his leg after it was severed by a train.

Walter Campbell, 13, was delivering papers near the railroad tracks yesterday when he heard screams. He ran to the tracks and found Ronald Vales, 6, with one leg off just below the knee.

Walter took a strap used for carrying papers and wrapped it around the boy's leg to stop the bleeding, then went for aid. Doctors said Ronald would have bled to death if it hadn't been for Walter.

Talked to Death

A fitting inscription for the grave markers on the final resting places of thousands of young Americans killed in Korea would be "Talked to Death."

The Reds have come up with another new plan to discuss at Panmumjom.

Their first plan was sprung in December, 1950. It was unacceptable, as they knew it would be.

In January, 1951, the U.N. suggested a plan. The Reds talked that one to death while more troops died.

In June, 1951, the Reds offered another plan. The negotiations which ensued now are nearing the end of a two-year history of haggling in which nothing was settled because settlement never was the objective of Red negotiators.

Their obstructionism will stand as a tribute to the efficiency of a technique which never has been understood, except by those highly trained in its use—the modern art of arguing in such a way as to keep an opponent from winning; to confuse and infuriate him; to fill him and his followers with a sense of futility and frustration.

The words which have baffled, maddened and occasionally encouraged U.N. negotiators at Kaesong and now at Panmunjom cost the Kremlin nothing. They are in endless supply. A million more can be produced by the Kremlin's mouthpieces on demand.

This is something the Reds do as deliberately as they stage street riots in Tokyo, Berlin or Paris. It's part of the technique of being a Communist — to swap endless arguments for time in which to proceed methodically with their conspiracy to conquer the world.

Pay as They Go

The strongest objection of Ohio Trucking Association to a weight-distance tax is that such a tax would destroy reciprocity. This is the arrangement whereby truckers pay for licenses in only one state, the same as owners of passenger cars.

Ohio truckers contend that if a weight-distance tax were collected out-of-state truckers would

Embargo Scandal

By David Lawrence

British Put Trade Above Real Peace Offensive

Gradually and with unashamed frankness, the British are conceding that they think it is more important for them to continue their trade with Communist countries than to help the United States put economic pressure on the Soviet Union even as the latter supplies to Red China guns and munitions with which to kill American boys in Korea.

What is much worse, the evidence now indicates that the Department of State feels helpless to change the Allied point of view. This has just been uncovered in testimony before congressional committees, and it points up as a paramount issue whether the Eisenhower administration intends to use its diplomatic influence effectively and whether Congress will use its appropriations to make sure that an embargo on all trade with Communist countries is inaugurated.

Great Britain today sends no strategic materials to Red China but admits sending them to the Soviet Union and hides behind the fiction that Communist Russia is not "legally" an aggressor.

The other day a letter appeared in a Washington newspaper signed "diplomat" which was written presumably by someone connected with one of the British commonwealth embassies. He said:

"The British have to live with—and, to a certain extent, by—trade with the Soviet bloc.

They sell rubber to the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and the European satellites, and refuse to sell it to Communist China, as a part of a policy which recognizes their need for grains and timber from the European Soviet bloc. Red China is an "aggressor' under the U.N. resolution but the Uunion of Soviet Socialist Republics is not . . . (England) strives to achieve a workable and sensible balance.

"Like all compromises, the balance they strike may seem inconsistent, and may, in fact, be inconsistent or stupid or wrong. But it is their official policy in a matter of great delicacy."

Surely this is a matter of "great delicacy" for the parents and relatives of the more than 130,000 American boys who have become casualties in Korea.

One wonders when the British government will discover that it is more important to put economic pressure on the Communist countries and bring the "cold war" to an end than it is to seek profits no matter where they can be obtained.

than to let them be influenced by Soviet rubles or commodities — and if money is the only consideration, perhaps the American Congress can agree to pay the expense of a complete embargo.

It would be worth while to do so if American lives could be saved in Korea. Rubber is a strategic material, and when rubber is sold by Britain to the Soviet Union, everyone knows it is shipped over the trans-Siberian Railway to Red China just as certainly as if it had been sent there by boat direct.

It was Sen. McCarthy who recently uncovered the scandal in foreign shipping which reveals that citizens of various countries, including Britain, are engaged in selling directly to Red China.

Then, all of a sudden, the European press began to denounce "McCarthyism" with far more vigor than would normally be expected from a foreign press which has so little interest in whether subversives are being driven out of the American government.

The "London Times" has revealed the real animus against Sen. McCarthy — he is exposing the details of the improper trade with the Communists.

The British newspaper say:

"The McCarthy policy, if one can dignify it by such a name, would logically lead to the stopping of all trade with the whole of that part of the world that is under Soviet influence, without regard to the strategic or non-strategic character of the goods carried. It would mean, on the trade front, a general state of war. . . .

"The idea seems to be gaining fresh hold in the United States that trade with a Communist country is in itself wrong."

To most Americans — and President Eisenhower has agreed — the fighting in Korea is not a "police action" but a "war."

When there is a war going on, Americans have been taught to believe it is wrong to trade with the enemy.

During World War I, before America entered the conflict, Great Britain seized American vessels carrying cargoes to neutral countries because they might ultimatly get to enemy countries. In World War II, the United States and Great Britain bought up the production of neutral countries to prevent its going to enemy countries.

The U.N. has adopted a resolution calling on all members to refrain from aiding the aggressors. This wasn't a hair-splitting resolution which said there could be exceptions if some country wanted

Meet the Enemy!

Hope Wanes for Tax Cut Before 1954

By Raymond Moley

Congressman Reed, chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means, is having trouble lining up his Republican colleagues behind his bill to reduce income taxes on July 1 next, rather than as is provided in the law, on January 1, 1954.

The reason is that Messrs. Martin, Taft, and other Republican leaders have other ideas concerning the political consequences of that reduction.

It may be that some naive Americans still believe that the making and final disposition of a budget is an economic problem like the de-

Departments of State, Commerce, Justice, and Interior.

The first three of these were cut 22 per cent below the Truman estimates; the latter, about 33 per cent.

Carried through all of the civil appropriations, this rate of cutting will save something like $2 billion. If deep cuts are made in foreign aid and the military, the total may be something like $10 billion.

But senators are speaking in more modest terms. The Taft guess is from $6 to $8 billions, which is less than President Eisenhower's tax cuts now; Can this Republican Congress permit the excess profits tax to expire as scheduled on July 1, and not at the same time give individual taxpayers relief?

Imagine, they say, the screams of Democrats and of labor leaders if corporations get relief while the "little fellows" continue to shoulder the burden.

One answer to that is that the excess profits tax might be continued to January 1, and then all individual taxpayers and corporations—would have a cut in January, perhaps even more than Reed's proposed 11 per cent.

With the Preakness the next big race on which to go wrong, this department is for a Congressional investigation into the recent Kentucky Derby. What's one more investigation these days?

We charge that Dark Star is really Citation, that Jockey Guerin whispered to Native Dancer, "Let's sit this one out," in the early stages of the classic, that Money Broker, who bumped the favorite, is a Russian saboteur, and that, but for some hidden conspiracy the right rider for Native Dancer (Arthur Murray) might have been up.

We further think Owen Lattimore and John Carter Vincent should be questioned as to what they know about the whole thing.

And last, but not least, we are for an inquiry into whether or not there is a secret society made up of racing experts pledged to go overboard on a single horse in every Kentucky Derby and pay no attention whatever to a skinner that has just shown eminent fitness by winning the Derby Trial by three or four lengths and will pay $5 for $2.

We also contend that there is no such place as Churchill Downs and that it is all a De Mille movie sponsored by the mint-leaf growers.

Broadway producers quit fast these days. closing a play very often after two nights if the notices are not hot. . . . It is a routine experience to pick up a paper and read the closing notice before you have even heard of the opening.

get even by asking their legislatures to soak Ohioans.

If all the states began to collect from truckers, overhead would rise and consumers would have to pay higher truck rates, the truckers declare.

To be sure, the consumers would have to pay more.

Why shouldn't they pay more, if the trucking industry is being subsidized by an arrangement which relieves it of part of its overhead? A railroad pays taxes on its right-of-way in every state. All other interstate enterprises pay taxes in each state where they operate.

Ohio Trucking Association points out that trucks using the Ohio Turnpike would not be subject to the weight-distance tax because it will be a toll road. That is true, as far as Ohio's state treasury is concerned. But as far as the Ohio Turnpike Authority is concerned, trucks will be charged according to distance and weight.

That's the secret of turnpike operation — to obtain revenue in ratio to use. The Pennsylvania Turnpike does it that way. Every turnpike does it that way. That's how they pay their expenses. That's how Ohio proposes to pay a larger part of the expenses of building the highways which will keep the trucking industry rolling through this strategic passageway from the Atlantic coastal states to the Middle West.

The trucks will have to pay as they go. Everything else is expected to in a free-enterprise system.

No Hari-Kari, Please!

Business enterprise, some of its spokesmen are predicting, will commit hara-kiri if anything goes wrong with the Eisenhower administration.

This would be a loss of face, explain the spokesmen, because the prestige of free enterprise has been staked on the new president and his businssmen backers.

Ben Fairless of U.S. Steel has said this is free enterprise's last chance. The director of the development department of the Du Pont Co., Henry E. Ford, has voiced the same thought—that business management now has its greatest opportunity in history, but perhaps its last one to prove what it can do.

Even the Kiplinger Letter gets into the dolorous chorus with a report that businessmen are saying they cannot let Eisenhower fail because that would give business a black eye.

This kind of talk is silly. Eisenhower could fail for two dozen reasons having nothing to do with free enterprise.

Nothing that free-enterprise spokesmen could do would tickle the collectivists more than to keep harping on this theme that individualism is on trial for its life because a few business leaders have let themselves be drafted for federal service.

The free-enterprise system depends on the Constitution and Christianity, not on the temporary success or lack of success attained by businessmen during the tenure of one federal administration.

Business spokesmen are free to say what they please, but this implied threat to disembowel the free-enterprise system if one more administration going and coming in Washington fails to light up the sky is no service to millions of workers, share owners and patriots.

Surely, also, out of the five to six billions of economic aid about to be voted by Congress to foreign countries, some few millions might be "earmarked" to buy the timber Britain needs and to absorb the freight expense from distant points and thus aid in every way to achieve the "sensible balance" the British want.

It would cost $800 million a year to buy up the East-West trade. The American people would gladly pay it to end the "cold war." It might even replace some other $800 million item in the foreign-aid budget.

Surely to "bribe" or "induce" the British producers with American dollars cannot be less harmful if trade is to be maintained to make profits or if some country wanted to send her strategic materials to a country bordering on Russia.

The embargo resolution was clear-cut and the question now is how do the British and other nationals justify the use of shipping to permit trade directly or indirectly with the enemy.

On top of all this, Premier Nehru of India has announced that India does not and will not accept the U.N. embargo on strategic materials.

How can the other U.N. members now allow India to remain a member of that organization?

This is another question which deserves a realistic answer.

Sportsmanship

By TRUMAN TWILL

This is a fervent wish that no downy-checked juveniles will jump out of a hot-rod and ask, "Uncle Tru, what's sportsmanship?"

Uncle Tru would be hard-pressed to give an answer, in spite of the fact sportsmanship is supposed to be part of the American way of life—a basic Yankee Doodle virtue.

Uncle Tru has been reading too many stories lately and watching too much television. He has been seeing too much professionalism in sports.

A jockey says the favorite in the Kentucky Derby was knocked out of his stride at the beginning of the race by another entry whose rider intentionally committed a foul.

The baseball people are still mouthing over an incident in a game between the Yankees and Browns in which ligaments were sprained, bones crushed and flesh lacerated, yet the only aftermath was a spatter of hogwash about spectators for throwing pop bottles.

Everybody in the "amateur" basketball business is waiting with bated breath for the latest and newest scandal to break over that much - abused sport which fills Madison Square Garden.

Even the newest and most naive television fight fan knows that the decision goes to the pug who does the best job of flicking away at an opponent's bleeding eye in the manly art of self-defense.

Fortunes have been made by wrestlers who have mastered the manly art of committing every conceivable act of bad sportsmanship known to man without benefit of boxing gloves.

Officials paid to keep order in football games don't earn their salaries any more in big - money contests if they don't eject a bloodthirsty player bent on doing mayhem to his mortal enemy.

Hockey, which is modified mutilation on ice, wouldn't draw flies without the imminent threat of a raised club or a lethally-maneuvered skate.

The high-spike slide into second, the rapier-like thrust of an armed foot into the catcher's mitt, the profane insult, the derogation of ancestry and the mouthy protest are part and parcel of the great national game, in which as one notoriously rowdy pro, puts it, "Nice guys never win."

Perhaps sportsmanship never was what it is cracked up to be by idealists. Perhaps it never existed at all in the United States and is only a figment of the propagandists. Certainly it is conspicuous by its absence in professional sports.

Never has it been made so plain to the masses that the money payoff is for bad sportsmanship—for the player or the team that wins at any cost—that how you win is not half so important as winning.

All this is being dished out day by day to the impressionable young. Let no one be pop-eyed with amazement if some time in the near future a couple million of the impressionable young, then grown older and wiser, sneer when someone mentions good sportsmanship:

"Yah."

They never saw any, except kids and squares.

Dandelion Rubber

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese government has decided to experiment with Russian dandelion as a source of natural rubber. The newspaper Asahi said the trial program would be located in Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost and least developed island. The rubber plant was reportedly discovered by a Russian expedition about 20 years ago in the Tienshan mountain range inside western China's Sinkaing province. Since then the Communists have claimed success in cultivating dandelion farms for rubber extraction, Asahi noted.

cision to build a new factory or to float a new bond issue.

There are plenty of economists in Washington, and they are equipped with a mountainous array of figures.

The economic advisers are not going to decide how much taxes will be or how much will be spent. Political experts will make those decisions, and it is the political experts who become speakers and majority leaders in Congress.

Cabinet officers do not rank with senators and congressmen as politicians. The latter come up the hard way of vote - getting. The former are merely appointed.

So far as present signs are an indication of future moves in the budget field, Congressman Reed will be overruled. There will be no cut in taxes for us as individuals on July 1. That is, unless the aggregate political hunches of members favoring the earlier date explode in a revolution.

Even if the House breaks loose and passes the Reed bill, the Senate is not likely to agree. The Senate is not only less economy-minded than the House, but it is more closely managed by Sen. Taft and others.

The greater conservatism of the House is clearly shown in estimate of how much the Truman estimate of $78.6 billion for fiscal 1954 can be cut.

House members on the Republican side are talking about $10 billion. The House has already made deep cuts in the requests of the $8.5 billion. Sen. Byrd has a figure of $6.8 billion.

It is a realistic guess that the final figure will be less than that fixed by the House.

The political strategy of Speaker Martin seems to be to prevent tax cuts in order to force more reductions in spending. The reason for an insistence upon budget - balancing is that such a goal will force deeper cuts in appropriations.

But, ask those who believe in Another idea would be to finish with appropriations some time in the summer and let Congress take a recess until late in the fall. It would then come back and pass tax cuts.

These are some of the alternatives, all of which are political calculations. About all that is certain is that there will be relief from spending and taxes within the next 12 months unless there is a grave change in foreign affairs.

Vanishing Americans

By HARRISON W. FRY

Going—going—almost gone is the schoolmaster.

And with him has gone the old direct discipline of the birch rod and penance penalties, to be replaced by the painless persuasiveness of the psychologist and guidance counsellor.

Pupils are no longer bad—they are maladjusted. Pedagogy today seeks to find where the pinch is.

There was a time well known to the grandfathers of the present generation when the typical rural school, as in pioneer days, was presided over by the schoolmaster. A study just completed by the National Education Association shows that today only one in eight of the one-room rural schools, the hard core of yesterday in education, is in charge of a man. In the rural high-school men still outnumber women.

A composite picture of the average country school teacher today, compiled from the statistics of the study, shows that she is married, has taught school about 15 years and is 42 years old. She earns about $2,484 a year, which is the equivalent of $1,335 fifteen years ago. Her education includes at least two years at college.

Unlike the rural schoolmaster of yesterday, she lives in a house or apartment of her own and travels to school in an automobile. Her home is about four and a half miles from the schoolhouse. She is no longer restricted by community pressures from having dates, going to dances or even from smoking.

There is a greater freedom in what she teaches but certain areas of knowledge are abridged. One in every three rural high school teachers did not feel free to discuss sex in their classes: in one-fifth of the communities it was thought unwise to criticize prominent political leaders but it was considered even more dangerous to criticize prominent businessmen of the community.

The study points out that the farther the subject was away from the local community, the more free teachers felt about discussing policies of government with students. Only about one-tenth of the rural high school teachers did not feel free to discuss Communism or socialism with their pupils.

It was surprising, the study says, to note that teachers did not feel free to discuss problems of teacher welfare, in a large number of cases.

The restrictions on freedom of teaching and learning, the teachers blamed on public opinion and pressure groups and very few were forbidden to discuss certain issues by local school authorities.

Max Lowenthal

By George Sokolsky

Max Lowenthal was one of Harry Truman's closest advisers. In fact, it has been suggested that Lowenthal was responsible for the original suggestion to make Truman vice president. Of this I do not know first hand.

SOKOLSKY

Lowelthal is the author of a violent attack on the FBI in which he abuses that agency and its director, J. Edgar Hoover. It was a curious circumstance that one of the close friends of the president, a man who often visited the White House, wrote a book attacking this agency whose record is unblemished.

Now Lowenthal's name is coming up again and the circumstances are peculiar, for witnesses before congressional committees have taken the position that to know Lowenthal would incriminate them. Why?

WHAT HAS this man done that to know him could be grounds for indictment for a criminal offense?

Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, who has been identified by witnesses as a Communist and as head of the Silvermaster cell, answered a question in this manner:

"Have you ever imparted any classified documents of this government to any enemy of this country or any other foreign power?

Mr. Silvermaster — I claim privilege of refusing to answer this question under the Fifth Amendment.

THIS SAME Nathan Gregory Silvermaster was questioned about Max Lowenthal as follows:

Mr. Morris — Do you know a man namex Max Lowenthal?

Mr. Silvermaster — I refuse to answer the question under the same privilege.

Mr. Morris — Did you ever have conversations with Max Lowenthal?

Mr. Silvermaster — I refuse to answer the question under the same privilege.

Now to come to Frederick Palmer Weber, who has worked for several congressional committees, for the CIO - PAC, for the Progressive party, and for the American Management Council of New York City.

HE TESTIFIED concerning his activities in Southern States as follows:

Mr. Morris — Now were you a member of the Communist Party when you were organizing those 11 States for the Progressive Party?

Mr. Weber — I plead my privilege, Mr. Counsel.

So, he was asked about Max Lowenthal. This is the colloquy:

Mr. Morris — I am going to ask some questions about Max Lowenthal. He has been an adviser to the executive branch of the government. When did you last see Mr. Max Lowenthal?

Mr. Weber — I plead my privilege.

Mr. Morris — You will not tell us under what circumstances you last saw Mr. Lowenthal?

Mr. Weber—I plead my privilege.

Mr. Morris — Will you plead your privilege about other questions relating to Mr. Max Lowenthal?

Mr. Weber — I shall, Mr. Counsel.

Sen. Welker — Just a moment. Did any of your work on these committees that you heretofore described bring you in contact with Mr. Max Lowenthal?

Mr. Weber — I will plead my privilege.

Sen. Welker — You can't tell us whom you did meet in the executive branch of the government by virtue of your work on the hill?

Mr. Weber — Senator, I am very reluctant to mention any number of very well known administrators and wartime officials from business and various policy - making people in the executive branch of the government.

Sen. Welker — That is because you don't want to embarrass them regardless of whether or not there is any connection whatsoever.

Mr. Weber — I don't.

Sen. Welker — Is that the reason you decline to answer the question about Max Lowenthal?

Mr. Weber — I declined under my privilege.

Sen. Welker — In other words, you draw two different lines—one time you don't want to involve anyone that might be embarrassed by your testimony, but when we get to Mr. Lowenthal you invoke your privilege under the Fifth Amendment as to not giving testimony that might be used against you.

Mr. Weber — That is right.

WHEN ANALYZED, this is a startling reply, because Weber segregates Lowenthal as different from others.

He is reluctant to speak of some, but to speak of Lowenthal would incriminate him. Why?

What has Lowenthal done that it would incriminate Silvermaster and Weber to have known him?

Taft Undecided On Backing NATO Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today he was undecided whether to support a treaty under sharp attack by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) and several other senators of both parties.

The treaty, between the 14 North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations, would permit U. S. soldiers abroad to be tried in foreign civil courts of the NATO nations for non-military offenses.

Taft said he wanted time to study all the issues carefully before he decides what position to take. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of which he is a member, recommended approval of the treaty, but its vote was not announced. At least one member—Sen. Langer (R-ND)—said he voted against the recommendation.

Bricker Thursday tore into top Republican department officers for "misrepresentations" he said appeared in their testimony before the committee. He said Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith asked approval of the treaty because if confers "more rights" on U. S. servicemen than what Bricker called "the secret and illegal executive agreements made by the previous administration."

Calling this a "bootstrap-lifting argument," Bricker said in a Senate speech he had never heard a "more brazen challenge to the constitutional authority of the Congress."

The treaty, officially called the status of forces treaty, is designed to establish the legal status of troops stationed in any of the NATO nations. It covers passport and visa regulations, immigration inspections, carrying of arms, criminal and civil court jurisdiction and other such matters.

A project of the club now under way, the safety scotchlite project, in which irridescent tape is placed on the back bumper of an automobile or truck for more safer night driving, was discussed by William Rawlins, chairman of that committee. Present plans of the club are to place the tape on emergency city vehicles and then in the near future set up a place in downtown Marion where auto owners can take their car and have the tape put on at a cost of $1. All proceeds from the project will go into the club safety fund. Other members of the committee in addition to Rawlins are Jack Lautenslager, Richard Lister, Carl Mounts, Wilbur Flach, Charles Dunn and Kenneth Gasmire. The ways and means committee chairman, William Rawlins, talked on the membership drive now in progress.

Democrats To Support Truck Tax

GOP-Sponsored Legislation Gets Lausche's Approval

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche and minority Democrats in the Legislature appeared ready today to go along with a weight-distance truck tax bearing a Republican label.

It took majority Republicans several weeks to come up with a tax of their own on heavy trucks, based on weight and the distance traveled. But they finally made it.

They call it an axle-mile tax. It would tax trucks with three or more axles according to their number and the distance trucks traveled.

Rep. Roger Cloud (R-Logan), chairman of the GOP "blue ribbon" Public Affairs Committee, unveiled the axle tax proposal only last week. He said it would do exactly what a weight-distance tax would, with various improvements.

Those, he said, included more revenue, less bookkeeping for truckers and easier enforcement against overloading.

The axle-mile proposal proved to be the keystone of the promised Republican highway program. It pried the stalled program out of committee and headed it for a show-down vote in the house next Wednesday.

Critics who said Cloud and other Republicans had sold out to the truck lobby all but fell silent when workings of the measure became more widely known.

Lausche never attacked the proposal directly. He said he hadn't heard of the "novel" idea and reserved judgment on its workability. He conferred with highway officials and later with Cloud.

Shortly afterwards the governor told newsmen "the axle tax has in substance what I wanted in my weight-distance bill."

Lausche made it clear he preferred the weight-distance tax he has advocated for years but said an axle-mile tax would be acceptable. He also gave Cloud a pat on the back.

"Mr. Cloud has faithfully and diligently striven to write a law that will impose upon commercial cargo carrying trucks their just responsibilities to provide their equitable share of moneys to build and maintain our roads," Lausche said.

Starting July 1, the program is designed to produce an additional $42,600,000 a year for new trunk highway construction. It also would give voters the final say on a 750 million dollar bond issue to get new roads in 10 years, instead of 20 years on a pay-as-you-go basis favored by Lausche.

Rep. James J. McGettrick (D-Cuyahoga), House minority leader, said the axle - mile proposal would not encounter solid Democratic opposition. "We are not going to oppose a good bill simply because it has a Republican tag," he said.

Seven ships operated by the United States, Canada, and Japan cruise endlessly in tiny circles in the North Pacific to report weather conditions every three hours. The ships are necessary as weather stations because of the scarcity of islands in the area.

Traffic Chief Of C and O Wins Citation

Fraternity Names Genet "Transportation Man of the Year"

CLEVELAND—Arthur S. Genet, vice president in charge of traffic of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, has been chosen "Transportation Man of the Year" by Delta Nu Alpha, national transportation fraternity. The award, for "outstanding contribution to advancement of the traffic and transportation profession, "will be presented at the fraternity's annual luncheon on May 24 in Chicago, according to notification sent to Genet by T. V. Volk, chairman of the fraternity's board of directors.

The citation — first national award in the fraternity's history —will be given Genet for his origination of C&O's current advertising campaign paying tribute to the importance of the industrial traffic manager. The award is also based on Genet's long interest in transportation problems, according to Volk.

An engraved plaque will be presented to Genet at the Sheraton Hotel, Chicago. The luncheon is the main event of the two-day meeting of the fraternity's national board of directors.

Genet won the award unanimously at the Delta Nu Alpha annual meeting in Wilmington, Del., in October and the citation was ratified by the fraternity's executive board in January. The award hereafter will be given yearly, Volk said.

Delta Nu Alpha has 82 chapters in 27 states, with a membership of 4,000. Ten of the chapters are at universities.

Genet, 43, has been C&O vice president since 1947, with headquarters in Cleveland. He joined the railway the year before as assistant vice president in charge of freight traffic, coming from the presidency of National Carloading Corporation of New York City. Previously he had held positions with Central Coal Company of New York, where he was treasurer and comptroller, and Metropolitan Coal Company of Boston, where he was vice president.

Youth Draws $100 Fine On 3 Charges

License Suspended For 6 Months After Arrest Near School

A 19-year-old Marion motorist was fined $100 and costs and his rights to drive were suspended for six months when he pleaded guilty in Marion Municipal Court today to three traffic violation charges.

Samuel Russell Lawhun of Sherwood Ave. was arrested at 12:54 p.m. Thursday on Bennett St. and charged with reckless driving, operating a motor vehicle on a temporary permit unaccompanied by a licensed driver, and operating a motor vehicle on fictitious license tags.

Police Chief Tom Coon said Lawhun was arrested after a patrolman saw him go through a stop sign at Bennett and Latourette Sts. at a high rate of speed at a time when school children were returning to school.

Chief Coon said motorists are growing careless in observing stop signs in school districts and warned that those going through stop streets in school zones or exceeding the speed limit of 20 miles an hour are apt to be arrested. He said Lawhun was driving more than 50 miles an hour on Bennett St.

Only other traffic arrest reported today by police was Frederick E. Barlow, 20, of 547 Davids St., charged with having an illegal muffler on his car. He was arrested at 7:26 a.m. today on Park Blvd.

Seven bids for supplying seats and chairs for the new Harding High School were received Wednesday afternoon at the school administration building on S. Prospect St.

The bids are being studied and contracts will be awarded within a week by the city board of education.

Bids were received from the Folding Equipment Co. of Toledo, Dobson-Evans Co. of Columbus, First Investment Co. of Columbus, G. E. Henry Co. of Columbus, Hall-Beck Equipment Co. of Marion, Miller Office Supply Co. of Piqua and Theodore Kundtz Co. of Cleveland.

Bids were for auditorium and music room chairs, classroom and study hall seating, and some emergency seating in the form of folding chairs.

17-Year-Locust Myths Debunked By U.S. Ag Dept

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Agriculture set out on a myth-debunking expedition today.

It was prompted by the fact that within a few days, the countryside in many Eastern states will be ringing with an incessant chorus of drumming and whirring insects.

This eerie choir will signal the emergence of brood No. 10 of the periodical cicada, more commonly, but—the department says—erroneously, called the 17-year locust.

The department, remembering past experiences, expects the event to give birth to all sorts of calamitous predictions, such as crop destruction and hunger and even war.

The truth is, the department said, that the cicada is relatively harmless. To set the public straight, the agency prepared and issued a special pamphlet giving the facts about the life and times of the periodical cicada.

The department offered to send copies to interested persons.

Contrary to general belief the department said, the insect does not destroy crops. This belief apparently started because of early colonists mistook the cicadas for the Biblical "locusts—a species of grasshopper—that ruined crops in ancient Egypt.

The cicada does not feed on foliage of any kind, the agency said, and in fact spends the bulk of its five to six weeks of life in aboveground in singing, love-making and laying of eggs for a new generation that will appear 17 years or so later.

What damage they do is largely caused by the female in making injurious punctures in twigs and limbs of trees and bushes with their egg-laying apparatus.

The adult insect is about 1½ inches long. Most of its body is black. The legs are reddish, some of the veins in the nearly transparent wings are orange, and the eyes are red.

He declared "no foreign policy really deserves the name if it merely reflects actions from someone else's initiative"—obviously an allusion to the fluctuations of Soviet policy.

American policy, he said, "must be pushed through all kinds of crises. It must not be truculent, but it must be firm and strong. . . ."

Escaped POW Gives Self Up After 7 Years

German Made Good In U.S.; Magazine Picture Is Downfall

NEW YORK (AP)— An escaped German prisoner of war, hunted by the FBI for seven years and now a successful interior decorator, gave himself up Thursday night—because of a picture and a girl.

Husky, blonde Harry Girth, 27, said he had lived in constant fear of being caught.

"I didn't want to go back to Germany," he said. "Their way of life is so different. I wanted no part of it."

Since he escaped from the Fort Dix, N. J. POW camp in 1946, Girth had built up an interior decorating business at Atlantic City, N. J., was buying a $5,900 shore home, and was engaged to an American girl.

It was his acquaintance with the girl, Judy Florentine, of Atlantic City, and the appearance of his picture in the current issues of Collier's magazine as one of five fugitive German POW's in the United States that led to his surrender.

The girl's mother, Lucy, spotted the picture of Girth and notified her son George, a comedian (stage name George DeWitt) in New York. He contacted his prospective brother-in-law, advised him to surrender, and Girth agreed.

Polish-born, Girth said he was captured in a foxhole near a small village north of St. Lo, France, after being slightly wounded in the leg.

A prisoner at Fort Dix for two years, he escaped only two days before he was to be shipped back to Europe.

Driver Fined After Crash On Route 42

His Car Hits Another After Crossing Yellow Line on Road

William E. Lamkey, 26, of Riverton, Ill., was arrested by local state highway patrolmen on a charge of reckless operation Thursday morning after his car was involved in a two-car crash on Route 42 two miles north of Mt. Gilead.

The accident occurred at 11:05 a.m. when Lamkey attempted to pass a truck. Patrolmen said Lamkey disregarded the yellow warning line in his lane and attempted to pass the truck while approaching a hill.

Lamkey attempted to avoid crashing into the oncoming car driven by Irving Lackritz, 35, of Columbus, and drove off the left side of the road onto the berm where his car crashed into the Lackritz car, also attempting to avoid the crash by driving off onto the berm. Lackritz received injuries about the head, but was not treated. The left front sides of both cars were considerably damaged.

Lamkey appeared before Justice of Peace R. R. Bennington of Mt. Gilead on the reckless operation charge, entered a plea of guilty and was fined $15 and costs.

At 3:30 a.m. today, a truck pulling a semi-tractor and trailer driven by John C. Krider, 57, of 488½ W. Center St., Marion, veered off the right side of Route 4, just south of the Route 37 intersection, 16 miles south of Marion, struck a General Telephone Co. pole and crashed into a field.

Krider escaped injury. The cab of the truck, owned by the Leroy Burns Trucking Co. of Marysville, was almost demolished.

A telephone company crew was sent out to clear the wires strewn over the highway and a wrecker was called to remove the truck outfit from the field.

Robert F. Crabtree, 22, of 520 Pearl St., Marion, escaped injury when his car overturned on County Road 107, four miles south of Marion, at 9:55 p.m. Thursday. Crabtree failed to negotiate a sharp turn at the intersection of Roads 107 and 106, skidded across Road 106 into a ditch and overturned on the right side. Extensive damage to the right front and rear of the car was reported.

Fined $100, Costs On Accident Charge

Thomas J. McCleese, 23, of 795 Davids St., was fined $100 and costs in Municipal Court Thursday on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. His driver's license was also suspended for a three-year period.

The accident which occurred Tuesday at 1 a.m on Route 4, just north of the city limits, involved another car driven by Delbert K. Burl, of Lorain. The Burl car was sideswiped and forced from the road by the oncoming McCleese car, which was unidentified at that time, patrolmen reported.

The McCleese car was found abandoned on a county road north of the city sometime later. McCleese contacted state highway patrolmen Tuesday night, identifying the car as his.

Jet Scrap Ends 8-Day Lull In Air War

SEOUL (AP) — U. S. Sabre jets tangled with Communist MIG15s for the first time in eight days today. Three of the sleek swept-wing Red fighters were damaged in the sky battle matching 10 Sabres against 16 MIGs.

The Navy, meanwhile, sent swarms of carrier-based fighter-bombers and a trio of warships against two key Communist port areas on Korea's East Coast.

A reinforced Chinese company of perhaps 200 men made a half-hearted attack on a Central Front outpost as ground fighting remained almost at a standstill. U. S. 7th Division troops opened up with artillery and mortar fire and the Reds scurried back to their own lines after a brief long-range battle, the Eighth Army said.

The Sabres and MIGs met high over Northwest Korea, just a few miles south of the Yalu River.

There has been speculation that Red pilots were being put through an intensive loyalty check as a result of the U. N. Command's offer of $50,000 to Communist fliers delivering MIGs to the Allies—with a $50,000 bonus for the first plane.

One of the damage claims was reported by Lt. Fred L. Hughes of Akron, O.

Friday's damage credit went to Lt. John L. McKee of Ashland, Ky., who now has 1½ MIGs destroyed and one damaged.

Home Hit By Lightning

Tears Hole in Roof; Damage Set at $25

Lightning struck a Park St. residence Thursday at 4:55 p.m. during an electrical storm and caused an estimated $25 loss, according to City Fire Chief O. A. Sifritt.

The lightning tore a hole in the roof of the Dean Barrett residence, 626 Park St., and followed wiring down to the basement causing a short circuit in a furnace blower motor which burned. Firemen from the Central station extinguished the blaze.

At 8:40 a.m. today, firemen from the Mark St. and Central stations were called to the Custom Machine Products Co., 236 N. Main St., when some rubbish on the floor in front of the furnace caught fire. Firemen said apparently a piece of burning rubbish had fallen through the open furnace door and set fire to the stack of rubbish on the floor. There was no damage estimated.

Defective wiring at the Samilson Dress Shop, 140 W. Center St., caused a $10 fire loss at 5:42 p.m. Thursday. The wiring shorted and burned insulation. A Central station engine answered the call.

Urging an ever-expanding and liberal trade policy, Eisenhower said this country must have outlets for its surpluses, and other nations "must be capable of buying our goods."

"Today there would be no possible prosperity for the farm population of our country except that we have a prosperous foreign trade," he said.

But he added that imports cannot go entirely unregulated. Eisenhower said he believes his administration is producing a government of "common sense."

Concerning taxes, he repeated his admonition that any reduction before the government is able to pay its bills "is likely to prove illusory."

In discussing peace, Eisenhower said any world settlement "must be true and total."

Police estimated that some 400,000 persons in all saw the President, at the dinners, and in shuttling along New York streets between the two mid-Manhattan hotels.

Court of Common Pleas, and the offices connected therewith, nor to the Probate and Juvenile Court on the second floor. That an elevator is necessary is indicated by the fact that other court houses in other counties in most parts of the State, public buildings, hospitals, and most every business establishment, has an elevator or some means of mechanical transportation from one floor to another.

"People live at a pace unknown fifty years ago. The second and third floor of the Court House are being used for judicial business, and business connected incidentially to the courts, by many more thousands of persons today than it was fifty years ago. It is a well known fact that people live longer than they did fifty years or seventy-five years ago, and therefore older people in larger numbers are required to use the Court House as a regular, natural consequence of their business with the courts and the offices connected therewith. People, it seems to the Court, should not be required in this day, when doing business with the courts, or offices connected therewith, and other offices in the Court House, to impair their health constantly by climbing old-fashioned, outdated stairs which are damaging to their health.

"This Court is of the opinion that the installation of an elevator in the Court House of Marion County, for the purpose of transporting members of the public who have business with the courts, and the offices connected therewith, from the first floor of the Court House to the second and third floors of said Court House, is a facility that is essential to the efficient performance of the functions of the courts of Marion County, Ohio.

Claim Insufficient Funds

"But the County Commissioners object, not because of the lack of necessity of an elevator, but because they claim that there are not sufficient funds to make such an installation. This Court is highly appreciative of the financial position of this County, and of all other government divisions and sub-divisions. The County Commissioners are pressed from all sides and at all turns, and all of the time, for increases in expenditures. Their position is not an enviable one, and this Court is of the opinion that the County Commissioners are doing an excellent job.

"Estimates of representatives of two responsible companies place the cost of an elevator to the fourth floor of the Courthouse at about $18,000 and the cost of a shaft at from $12,000 to $15,000, or a total cost of approximately $30,000 to $33,000. That the year 1953 was begun with a carry-over from 1952 in the amount of approximately $28,000, was brought out in the evidence; and, although the approximate total budget is public welfare or relief in one form or another, and this is true at a time when almost everyone wanting a job can get one. Only a small portion of the total budget is required by the Courts, and even including the cost of installation of an elevator, in addition to the cost of operation of the Courts, would only constitute a small proportion of one year's budget.

"This Court would be the very last to deliberately cripple the County government financially. This Court deems it not only desirable, but necessary, that there be harmony among officials, and especially co-operation, and it is the purpose of this Court always to cooperate not only with the County Commissioners, and all other officials of the County, but with the entire public. But, it is the judgment of the Court that such an installation will not substantially affect the financial structure of Marion County, for the Court is of the opinion that ways can be found to legitimately secure funds, if they are necessary.

Can Open Way to Expansion

"Further, as an incidental matter, an elevator can open the path for the use of much additional space in the Court House itself, all of which is sorely needed by the various offices in the County.

"The County Commissioners may, therefore be ordered to provide a satisfactory elevator for the purposes set forth and may be ordered to have the same installed, or contracted to be installed, not later than March 1, 1954; and, that they report to the Court, in writing, on or before January 15, 1954. And said cause is continued for such report and for further hearing upon the report of said Committee, when said report is filed.

"This procedure gives the County Commissioners various angles of approach: (1), they may find sufficient funds in the fiscal year 1953; (2), they may desire to represent an over-all program of improvement on all County property, in a special levy, to the people; (3), with the order for such installation, the budget for 1954 will soon be in the process of being made up and if they deem that some of the less essential functions of the Government can be cut, the extra time gives them the opportunity to do so, and they will, therefore, not be faced with an expenditure not included in the budget of 1953; (4), or, perhaps they may desire to finance the matter in some other way.

"The Court is convinced that the installation is not only a necessary facility, as heretofore found, for the efficient performance of the functions of the courts, but is convinced that the installation will be a progressive step toward securing the necessary physical facilities so badly needed by most other County offices."

"No Comment" by FOP Heads

Police Captain Reports Dismissal From Lodge

Police Captain Marion B. Tatham today assured Marion residents that although he is no longer a member of Marion Lodge 24 Fraternal Order of Police he is still employed by the city as a police captain.

In a letter to The Star, Captain Tatham said he had received many inquiries as to his status because his name is not listed on the FOP roster.

Charging that he was voted out of the lodge because while in charge of the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift, some of his men "picked up" a fellow patrolman, Captain Tatham said he was not given any opportunity to explain the action and was immediately dropped from the lodge for failing to "protect" a fellow officer.

Capt. Tatham apparently was referring to the case last summer in which a police patrolman was arrested on a charge of reckless operation.

The present president of the lodge, Patrolman Rollin Beach said that he was not in charge of lodge affairs at the time Captain Tatham was voted out and "I have no comment." He said he could make no statement about the incident until he had an opportunity to discuss it with other lodge members.

Patrolman Charles R. Ferguson, president at the time Tatham was ousted from the lodge, took a similar stand and also said he had no comment.

The ouster has no affect on Capt. Tatham's position in the police department, according to Police Chief Tom Coon. Chief Coon pointed out also that he is merely another member of the lodge and has no more say over lodge activities than any other member.

The full text of the letter to The Star follows:

"This is in answer to the numerous inquiries of local business men as to whether or not I am still employed at the Marion Police Department. They have noticed that my name has been omitted from the roster as shown on the FOP (Fraternal Order of Police) letterheads, soliciting donations and advertising for the coming dance.

"I am still a Police Captain although I was dropped from the local lodge simply because I was in charge of third trick one night when my men happened to "pick up" a patrolman (he is no longer employed by the City).

"I received by mail, a notice from the local lodge immediately thereafter, that I had been voted out for failing to "protect" a fellow officer. I was never given an opportunity to relate the circumstances; never granted a hearing (which we all know any criminal is entitled to), and the facts of the case were never made publically known.

"It's a sad case when an officer in charge of a trick, has to be the "goat" through no fault of his own. It's well known that any officer works under a superior officer, and naturally a captain also works under orders.

"So, although cast out of the lodge of which I am a Past President, and had belonged to all of my Police service, I am still an employee of the City Police Department."

Signed, "Marion B. Tatham, Captain, Marion Police Department," the letter was dated May 6, 1953.

LAST December the people of this country gave a typical, enthusiastic, American welcome to the announcement that Packard was returning to the fine-car field. Once again America had a new choice in fine cars!

At the same time, the Packard CLIPPER was announced as the only medium-priced car in America built in the fine-car tradition. The big type of car that Americans like, priced just a few hundred dollars more than the low-priced lines.

These announcements were the first step in the revitalized Packard Program! Now you are invited to participate in step number two with 12 new Packards and 12 new Packard CLIPPERS to be awarded those who follow the simple rules for participating in Packard Invitation Month.

May 9th to June 9th is the time. Just visit your dealer then. See the new Packard or CLIPPER and, on an official participation form (which your dealer will provide), write 25 words or less about the feature that impresses you most. Tell us what we should say about that feature in future advertising.

Send in as many suggestions as you wish. Just be sure each one is written on an official participation form and is in the mail before midnight on June 9th, 1953. See your Packard dealer soon.

Stanky Blasts Supporters Of Yanks' Mantle

Says Musial Still "The Greatest," NY Star Untested

By JOE REICHLER

BROOKLYN (AP)—The mantle of "the greatest" that Marty Marion has fitted for Mickey Mantle's shoulders is just a shabby cloak to Eddie Stanky.

"There's only one 'greatest' in the game today," the fiery little St. Louis Cardinals pilot said after Thursday's game with the Dodgers had been postponed, "his name is 'The Man'—the one and only Stan Musial. Who else?"

Stanky refrained from referring to Marion by name but he made no attempt to hide his resentment toward the manager of the St. Louis Browns who recently was quoted as saying that Mantle was baseball's No. 1 player today.

"I'm amazed at that fellow's statement," Stanky said vehemently. "Why, he was a teammate of Musial's for so many years. It was all right then, when they were on the same club, to call Stan the best—even greater than Joe Dimaggio and Ted Williams. But now that the fellow is in the other league, he forgets all about him.

"I'm not trying to take anything away from Mantle. He's a fine young ball player. But the greatest? Why? Because he hit a ball 500 feet? Sure, he's young, he's fast and he has a lot of power. But how many times has he led the league in batting? Or runs batted in? Or hits? Or anything?

"Now let me tell you about Musial, in case you don't know. Stan has led the league in batting six times. He's led it in runs, hits, doubles, triples, total bases, slugging, runs batted in and goodness knows what else?

"Musial has been a top-flight star for 10 years. How long has Mantle been in the big leagues? Two? Why don't they wait until he's been in the league for six, seven or eight years before they begin comparing him with the great stars, let alone a super-star like Musial."

"He's the biggest star in the game but he has the humility of a rookie. He's never high-hatted anybody in his life. He never asks for special favors. He is always available to younger players and ever eager to help them.

"Guys like Stan, and Enos Slaughter and Red Schoendienst make it easier for a manager. They set the example for the rest of the team. If I had a couple of more like that I'd be the greatest manager in baseball. You see, I have always maintained it's the players who make the manager."

MAKES A BIG HIT WITH HIS SON. Alva (Bobo) Holloman grins as his six-year-old son, Gary Lee, pins a star on him for becoming the first rookie in modern baseball history to pitch a no-hitter in his first big league starting assignment. As if that weren't enough, Holloman also drove in three runs.

Beulah Park Opens 19-Day Spring Meet

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Beulah Park opens its 19-day spring racing season Saturday at nearby Grove City.

For weeks the exercise boys have been working the bangtails over the mile oval, and Thursday Brad Willson, sports editor of the Columbus Dispatch, dropped in to see what was going on.

Brad told about one thin exercise boy, his face flecked with mud and perched on a postage stamp saddle, giving a 2-year-old bay some lessons on how to get out of a starting gate.

"It's a fascinating business," the youth said.

The youth is Bob Copelan, 26-year-old veterinary student at Ohio State, who gets his doctor's degree next month. His day starts at 4:30 a. m.

He works 14 horses each morning, gets $1 per horse, and is in the classroom at Ohio State by 9 a. m. He rides about 30 miles each morning. His dad is Robert Copelan Sr., managing editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star.

Yonkers Raceway Increases Purses

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—Bill Cane, president of Yonkers Raceway, announced a purse increase of approximately 23 per cent shortly before representatives of the 700 owners demanded a boost of 30 per cent and threatened a strike if their demands are not met by Monday.

Effective Monday Cane's increase will bring about a sizable boost in all events, including the jumping of purses for free-for-all races from $6,000 to $7,500.

Ed Dougherty, president of the Standardbred Owners Association, sent a letter to Cane and the United States Trotting Association asking for a 28 per cent increase in overnight events and cancellation of the two per cent starting fee.

Eddie Stanky Sees It As 4-Club Race

Thinks Rain Has Helped Phillies Get Fast Start

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The new owners of the St. Louis Cardinals, who like everybody and are very public relations conscious for a reason which escapes us, threw a delightful luncheon at one of our better restaurants. Not even the club president delivered a speech, and you can't make a much better start than that.

When we finally caught up with Eddie Stanky, who survived the big shuffle and continues to manage the foaming Red Birds, the little fellow with the choir boy face was grappling with a question. He had been asked if he thought Brooklyn was going to "run away and hide" from the rest of the National League.

"Do you mean," he asked incredulously, "if I think they'll win by 15 or 20 games? The answer is that I certainly do not. I still think it's going to be a four-team race. I mean between Brooklyn and us and the Phillies and the Giants. I'm not underestimating the Giants, no matter how they've been looking up to now."

Which team did he feel had benefited most from one of the wettest springs since rain was invented?

"There's no question in my mind—the Phillies have," Stanky said. "All these days off have permitted Steve O'Neill to keep coming back with Simmons and Roberts. He won't be able to do that later on. On the other hand, I haven't yet been able to establish any real rotation with my pitching staff.

"Take Stu Miller. I want to use him, but it's rained the last three times he was due to work, so that means he has to wait until his next turn. Why don't I let him pitch the next day? It's not that simple. The next day is Gerry Staley's turn. He's my best and I've got to go with him. And after that come Joe Presko and (Vinegar Bend) Mizell and Harvey Haddix. They're all going too good to miss a turn. So the rain helps Steve, but it hurts us."

If one of the big four, say the Giants, should drop out of contention, which of the other clubs did he think might climb into the fight?

"Milwaukee, without any doubt," said the sophomore pilot. "They're improved 100 per cent over last year.

Power at Plate Wins AA Games

Kansas City thumped the Charleston Senators 18-3 with 22 hits off four Senator hurlers.

Indianapolis, game ahead of the Blues, smashed St. Paul into third place with a 10-3 trouncing. Although outhit 12-11, the Tribe collected 25 bases on its blows, including four home runs and two doubles.

Youth Finds Lash In Condition At 40, Able to Run

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —The 17-year-old driver thought he could get away on foot after the FBI car chased him into a ditch, but he picked the wrong FBI man to run away from.

A block away and running like a scared rabbit, the boy felt a hand on his shoulder. It was Don Lash, former Indiana University distance runner, now 40 but still in pretty fair condition.

Lash had run down the car because he said it was being driven recklessly and he thoughout one of the occupants might be a deserter.

Van Fleet in Revolt

By DON WHITEHEAD
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet is another old soldier who isn't going to "fade away." Like Gen. Douglas MacArthur, he is in open revolt against the policy which has shaped the war effort in Korea for more than two years.

Van Fleet became an author this week in carrying forward an active campaign against the Korean war policy. He made it clear he isn't going to sit quietly in retirement.

Writing in Life Magazine, Van Fleet discloses he wanted to give up his command of the U. S. Eighth Army in Korea sooner than he did because: "I felt that I could not continue with honor to execute a policy I had ceased to believe in."

Those were words that might have been spoken by MacArthur after he was relieved of his Far Eastern commands in April, 1951, by former President Truman. MacArthur advocated a more aggressive policy in Korea and this led to his removal.

Van Fleet's theme as an author is that the Eighth Army is held back only by a policy which in effect enforces what he has called a "sitdown war." He thinks Washington has overestimated the Chinese strength and victory can be achieved if the wraps are taken off.

He says: "We do not have to ask the Chinese Reds for any favors. All we have to do is start an all-out effort in Korea, and the Reds will soon come begging to us."

What Van Fleet says in effect is that the Eisenhower administration should reverse the whole present policy, should put no faith in the Panmunjom peace talks, and should blast the Reds with all-out military might.

He says: "In the present peace talks with the Chinese Reds, I am absolutely convinced, we run the risk of throwing away the future of our nation. . .

"Why, when we can annihilte them if we want to, why, when Korea is so much more favorable a battleground for us than for them, are so many of us overeager for peace at any price?"

Van Fleet insists he had more than one opportunity to whip the Chinese.

"While I was in Korea," he writes, "opportunities presented themselves again and again where I was fully aware of my chance to beat the Reds once and for all and was restrained by high policy . . . The opportunity is still there today."

It would appear from these writings that Van Fleet is drawing farther and farther away from the top command in the Pentagon. This move began when he touched off a Senate investigation by charging there was a serious and sometimes critical ammunition shortage during all the 22 months he was in Korea.

In fact, Van Fleet appears deliberately to be taking direct issue with Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. In opposing MacArthur proposals two years ago to strike at Red China's mainland, Bradley said the moves might touch off the wrong war in the wrong place at the wrong time. He has since reiterated that view.

But Van Fleet says if the U. S. is to have war with the Reds, then Korea is "the right war in the right place at the right time."

Acually, the Van Fleet arguments are an extension of the "great debate" two years ago over the MacArthur proposals. Here we have two renowned generals in revolt against the Korean war policy they had been carrying out. Both think the war could be won by making what they call the right effort. And they believe it is worth that effort.

Hints Ohio Democratic Ranks Split

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Ohio's Democratic chairman indicated Thursday he thought an independent meeting of county Democratic chairmen planned for this summer would accomplish little.

State Chairman Eugene H. Hanhart said, "I see no harm in the county chairman's group but I doubt it will work out to their satisfaction."

He commented on plans made public by Columbiana County Chairman Don R. Gosney to call a statewide meeting of county chairmen.

Gosney hinted of a split in the ranks of party leaders when he announced he was authorized by the five county chairmen in the 18th Congressional District (Columbiana, Carroll, Harrison, Jefferson and Belmont Counties) to call such a meeting.

"We need action now if Democrats expect to regain state offices lost the past few years," Gosney told newsmen.

Under Hanhart's leadership, he said, the party lost all state officers except the governorship.

Gosney said Hanhart failed to cooperate fully with county chairmen and "didn't even see to it that Democrats had a full slate of candidates for the state Legislature."

Hanhart denied the state organization failed to cooperate. He said he contacted county leaders often and that they were consulted on all matters of patronage.

Are the American people willing to pay a higher price in killed and wounded to achieve such a victory?

There is the real issue. Military victories simply are not won without a price in blood. And many military leaders don't think the people are willing at this time to pay that price for a victory which some think would risk a world war.

Should the truce talks fail, there may be no other alternative than to follow the Van Fleet-MacArthur line.

Taft-Hartley Hearings End

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Labor Committee last Feb. 10 began what it billed as "extended hearings" on proposals for revision of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law.

Today, 144 witnesses, innumerable words and three months later, it reaches the end.

The final witnesses were members and officials of the National Labor Relations Board.

Chairman McConnell (R-Pa) said that after conclusion of the hearings today, the committee would go into closed session to try and write a bill for House consideration. The Senate Labor Committee, which started later, wound up its hearings last week.

McKay Orders Personnel Cut

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Department of the Interior has ordered an economy cut of more than 10 per cent by June 30 in the reclamation bureau's staff — a reduction of 1,322 among 12,000 to 13,000 employes.

Assistant Secretary of the Interior Fred G. Aandahl gave the figures to newsmen yesterday. It was the first major personnel slash ordered by Secretary of the Interior McKay since he took office in January.

Anadahl said the staff cut back in seven regional offices, the chief engineer's office in Denver and the headquarters here is based on "prospective estimates of what congressional action might be."

Former President Truman recommended $231,188,000 for the bureau in the fiscal year starting July 1, McKay asked $177,350,000 and the House voted $133,146,675. The Senate has not yet acted.

CROWN CAVALCADE — The PREDECESSORS of ELIZABETH II

No 16: [↓] Henry VI. Ruled England 1422-1461.

Born: 1421 at Windsor, son of Henry V and Catherine of France. He was nine months old when his father died, and there is a story he was crowned king with his mother's bracelet. A month later his father's plan of uniting the crowns of England and France was realized: Henry VI was proclaimed king of France. He was kept from having a childhood, but he grew up to be a pious, gentle man. England owes great educational institutions to him; Eton and King's College, Cambridge, were two results of his reign. Other results were unfortunate for him. The French, thanks to spirit aroused by Joan of Arc, expelled the English from all except Calais. Factionalism at home produced the fratricidal War of the Roses. Henry became deranged and eventually was imprisoned. He was put to death in 1471.

Businessmen Disagree On Foreign Aid

Views Conflict On How Funds Should Be Administered

WASHINGTON (AP)—Teams of businessmen who toured 14 countries are in disagreement over how the U. S. should administer its foreign aid program.

Teams which visited Britain, Germany and Italy recommended that the State Department be given full control and that the Mutual Security Agency (MSA) be abolished.

Four other teams urged instead that MSA continue in operation with minor housekeeping changes. These teams visited Greece, Belgium-Netherlands, Formosa, The Philippines, and the three Indochina states.

In between these two views were the conclusions of the teams which went to France, Turkey and Denmark. They recommended that MSA continue as a separate agency but with its personnel integrated with the American embassy staffs abroad.

This was learned as MSA director Harold E. Stassen arranged a news conference to make public the separate conclusions of the businessmen who made the survey.

Stassen, it was reported, has not yet decided whether to release at the same time a consolidated report drafted by Clarence Francis, the business group leader who is chairman of the board of General Foods Corp.

Several congressmen have accused Stassen of "suppressing" this report as well as the separate reports because of recommendations that his agency close shop.

Stassen met with nearly all of the 55 business leaders who made the survey yesterday to tell them which of their recommendations he was putting into effect.

The country-by-country reports give a clean bill of health to U. S. foreign aid officials overseas who have been criticized for allegedly living in luxury on unnecessarily high salaries.

The business groups proposed that all foreign aid of an economic variety—as distinct from military aid—be cut off to all countries visited except Britain, France, Greece, Turkey, West Berlin, Formosa, The Philippines and the Indochina states.

This would rule out economic help to Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands, Denmark and West Germany, except for West Berlin.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Maybe We're Both Wrong

LONDON

There is a very interesting parallel between the development of television in Great Britain at this precise moment and its development in our country. When I left the United States, a hot debate had just taken place at the Hot Springs conference of the Association of National Advertisers as to whether the advertiser could continue to afford to pay television's mounting bills.

John Crosby

Here a fairly warmish debate has taken place both inside and outside the House of Commons as to whether the British Broadcasting Co. monopoly, which has always controlled radio, was exactly the right thing for television.

This is not entirely a matter of money, though British television like our own could use a lot more money than is available. Both British radio and television are supported entirely by the license fee (roughly $3 a year) on radio's 12,000,000 sets and television's 2,000,000.

JUST AS IN THE EARLY days in our country, radio is being milked to pay television's bills. There are some important differences between us. In America radio interests almost automatically preempted television as a natural right which no one else disputed.

In Britain, though, quite a large body of opinion held that the BBC was not the logical inheritor of television, that it was exactly the wrong one. These people argued that the BBC's entire experience and inclinations were in the field of sound broadcasting and that this would limit its vision and tastes in the development of television.

It's a fairly arresting argument and it's rather odd that, to my knowledge, it was never even heard in the United States and that radio should have been allowed to claim television as a sort of divine right.

The BBC won that fight in Commons and is currently in sole charge of British television. But the Conservatives, hotly contested by Labor, have pushed through a bill permitting the development of commercial television in principle only.

In practice British commercial television is at least a year away—and may never come about at all. If Labor gets back in power, it won't. The more practical obstacle at the moment is the fact that Britain has only so much of an electronics industry and British rearmament is absorbing most of its output.

IF THE BRITISH ever got sponsored shows on television, they would not be on the BBC; they would be on a separate competing television network. It's rather hard for Americans, accustomed as we are to competing networks, to understand the British objections to competition, why, in short, lofty aspirations of the BBC side by side with, say, a British Milton Berle.

The chief objection was perhaps best summarized by Sr. William Haley, former director general of The Times of London: "Under any system of competitive broadcasting all these things would be at the mercy of Gresham's Law. For, at the present stage of the nation's general educational progress it operates as remorselessly in broadcasting as it ever did in currency. The good in the long run will inescapably be driven out by the bad."

This is directly contrary not only to American principle but to a lesser extent to American experience. Competition, in many ways, has improved programs rather than the other way around—though Sir William has a point there.

What strikes me chiefly here about this argument is that the British distrust of commercial television almost exactly matches our own distrust of anything smacking of government television.

-:-

ACTUALLY, THE BBC is not government - operated: it is a private corporation operated under charter of the House of Commons, quite a different thing entirely. The chief difference is that a small group of — let's face it — high-

Son of Former Marion Family Wounded in Korea

Word has been received by relatives here that the son of a former Marion family has suffered serious wounds in Korea. He is Pvt. Gene Neimeyer, 22, son of Gerald Neimeyer of near Middleville, Mich. This is the second time the young soldier has been wounded.

He suffered injury from artillery ammunition on the lower part of his body April 18 while serving with Co. E, 17th Regimental Combat team. Feb. 20, he was struck in the face and hand by fragments of a hand grenade while on patrol duty. He has been stationed two miles behind the Old Baldy battle lines he wrote his father. Entering the Army Feb. 14, 1952, he went to Korea Dec. 5, that year.

His mother, who died about a year ago, was the former Miss Lucille Carr, a daughter of Mrs. Harry Carr of 300 Pearl St. The Neimeyers moved to Michigan about six years ago. A daughter is Miss Harriet Ann Neimeyer of Middleville. Mrs. Carl Neimeyer of 361 S. State St. is an aunt of Mr. Neimeyer, and great aunt of the young service man, by marriage.

brows determine what the British shall and shall not see and hear.

It is a tyranny of good taste which in many ways is as inherently dangerous as our own tyranny of the rating systems or popular demand.

Frankly, I think we are both wrong and that we should profit from each other's systems. It wouldn't do American television a bit of harm to have some of its programs directed toward the top cultural level of the country—in short, programs which a body of expert opinion feels the American people ought to see rather than just those programs the Americans want to see.

And conversely I feel that competition would not always operate as Sir William Haley says it would; that commercial television, crass as it frequently is, might stimulate the BBC rather than extinguish it. The experts can be wrong.

This miss is exclaiming over a transistor, the tiny electronic discovery that may change our world. Used to benefit the hard of hearing for the first time, it has resulted in the smallest Sonotone in history. The heart of the transistor is a minute speck of germanium. The device uses much less electrical power than a vacuum tube, slashing battery costs for hearing aid users. One of the batteries used with the new Sonotone will last over six months.

Suggests Higher Rates at Bucyrus City Hospital

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—City council's finance committee here today took under advisement a request by City Hospital Supt. Hal E. Stout that council authorize salary increases for employes and a hike in rates for rooms.

Stout said a wage increase of about $25 monthly would bring salaries in line with those paid in hospitals in Marion and Galion. The wage increases would cost about $15,000 annually.

The suggested increase in room rates is $1 a day. The new daily rate for ward patients would be $8, semi-private rooms $9.50, private room $11.50, and private room with lavatory, $12.50. An additional $18,000 a year would be realized in revenue if the rate hikes are approved.

Last year the hospital showed a surplus of $7,062 according to Mr. Stout's annual report. He said revenue amounted to $208.268 while expenditures totaled $201,205.

Collier's to Publish Only Twice Monthly

NEW YORK (AP)—Collier's magazine, published weekly for 65 years, is turning into a bi-weekly because of what it calls the nation's changed reading habits.

An official of the Crowell-Collier Publishing Company said yesterday, that modern readers have more things to do, like watching TV and driving, that detract from magazine reading.

A study has shown, too, he said, that bi-weekly publications suffer less from this competition than periodicals appearing more frequently.

LARMAN S. SHERWOOD

Blind Humorist Will Address MPS Foremen

Larman S. Sherwood, blind philosopher and humorist from Rotterdam Junction, N. Y., will speak at a meeting of the Marion Power Shovel Co. Foremen's Club Saturday night at 6:30 in the ballroom at Hotel Harding.

His subject will be "The Challenge of Tomorrow." In his talk, Sherwood will outline his views on the problems that must be solved in order to assure a happy future.

Sherwood has spoken in Marion on different occasions. His talks are given in a humorous manner on variety of important subjects.

Blind since birth, he graduated from the Maryland School for the Blind and attended public schools at Cohoes, N. Y. He was among the top students in his class at Union College when he was graduated in the class of 1934. He completed work for his master's degree at the New York State College for Teachers at Albany in 1936.

An ordained Methodist minister, he served for 11 years at the church in his present home town. He travels an estimated 50,000 miles a year to present his lectures.

Other entertainment at the Saturday night meeting will be furnished by a piano duo, Mrs. John Lacey and Mrs. George Lane.

Munsan Press Train Is Discontinued

MUNSAN (AP)—The press train at Munsan became a thing of the past today. Allied correspondents who cover the Korean truce talks moved to a nearby tent camp.

Only half a dozen newsmen and photographers were aboard the train because the armistice negotiations were in a one-day recess.

The six car train had been a fixture here since the truce talks opened in July, 1951.

Major league baseball, which has seen mighty little sunlight this spring, goes completely under the lights tonight for the first time this season.

At least that's what the schedules say, although the weatherman may have other ideas. He has had so many times since the baseball season opened almost four weeks ago that club owners are beginning to suspect the Weather Bureau has been taken over exclusively by rainmakers.

First place in the National League will be at stake with the Philadelphia Phillies coming into Brooklyn's Ebbets Field for a three game set with the second place Dodgers.

Milwaukee will attempt to play its third home game of the year—the Braves have been rained out of their new home four times in six tries—with the Chicago Cubs as guests. St. Louis will be at Cincinnati and Pittsburgh at New York.

The New York Yankees put their game and a half American League lead on the line in Boston after a two day layoff. The Cleveland Indians, the Yanks' nearest pursuers, invade St. Louis. Philadelphia Athletics are at home to Washington and Detroit visits Chicago.

The Phillies, nursing a precious half game edge over the Dodgers, will fire their three biggest guns—Curt Simmons, Karl Drews and Robin Roberts. Cheerful Charlie Dressen of the Dodgers says he plans to counter with Billy Loes tonight, Preacher Roe tomorrow and possibly Joe Black on Sunday.

In the invasion from the West that just ended, the Dodgers, as usual, fared considerably better than the Phils. Brooklyn dropped only one out of seven games while Philadelphia broke even in eight.

In the American League's first East-West series the East also came out on top, although by a narrower margin than in the National since the Eastern American teams were on the road. They won 18 and lost 14. The overall National margin was 17-10.

No games were played in either league yesterday. The American League hadn't planned to play any and the four National League contests were rained out.

The latest postponements sent Dave Grote of the National League Service Bureau into the record books and he decided that only once in the last 50 years—in 1940—have there been more washouts at this stage of the season. The National League has lost 29 games because of the weather. The same thing happened in 1947 while in 1940 there were 30 postponements in the first 24 days.

Oliver Seeks To Quit Role As Runner-Up

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—Ed Oliver, the jovial jester of golf's tournament trail, was in excellent position to abdicate his title as a perennial runner-up as some 151 players teed off today in the second round of the rich Ardmore Open golf tournament.

Oliver, who claims Wilmington, Del., as his home, came through with one of those sizzling finishes to post a three-under-par 67 to share the first round lead with Earl Stewart Jr., Dallas, Tex.

It was a financial success for both players on the opening day of this four-day tournament. They split the $500 first place award for the day's low round and each picked up $90 for shooting six birdies under the bonus plans of the Waco Turners, sponsors of the event.

Stewart came through with his 67 five hours before Oliver.

Both held a two-stroke lead over four other players aiming at the top prize of $6,400.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Coach Woody Hayes unveils next fall's edition of the Ohio State University grid team Saturday at the Buckeye Stadium.

Marion's gift to the OSU football scene is expected to play a major role in the annual Red - White squad game. He is Paul Ludwig, whom Hayes has listed as a starting end with the white team.

SHORT

The former Harding ace, a letterman last year at OSU, is being groomed for a big spot in the Bucks' attack this season. Ludwig has proved he can go both ways to the satisfaction of Hayes and his brain trust. Ludwig received All-Ohio mention as an offensive backfield man at Harding and after enrolling at State was put at a fullback post and then transferred to tackle. Last year, he played strictly as a member of the defensive unit.

Saturday he will team at the ends with Carl Brubacker of Shaker Heights. They will play opposite Co-Captain Bob Joslin and Dean Dugger, who are tabbed as the starting ends next September.

The pair will be charged with stopping the running of the Buck's first string backfield quartet, composed of Johnny Borton at quarterback, Howard Cassady and Jerry Harkrader at the halves and Bob Watkins at fullback. Running behind Ludwig will be Dave Liggett, quarterback, Carroll Howell and George Rosso at halves and Fullback Tom Spears.

Eleven gridders will be on the sidelines with injuries for the wind-up of spring training. The 11 includes six letter winners from last season.

The game will get under way at 2:30 in the OSU Stadium. A full four-quarter game will be played with a team of Big Ten officials working the action.

Weatherman Is Redlegs' Toughest Foe

CINCINNATI (AP)—Postponement of Thursday's tilt with the Philadelphia Phils brought to 13 the number of Cincinnati Redleg games that have been postponed because of rain, snow or cold weather. And the season still isn't a month old.

The postponements now have caught up with the games played. There have been 13 of each.

Tonight—if the weather permits—Cincinnati opens a 13-game home stand with the St. Louis Cardinals providing the opposition.

Harry Perkowski, who accounted for one of the three victories the Reds have been able to accumulate thus far, was slated to pitch against Gerry Staley.

BOSTON (AP)—Slugger Ted Williams, now flying for the U. S. Marines in Korea, discounted the current peace rumors in a letter to Tom Yawkey, owner of the Boston Red Sox.

"Williams wrote that he hopes there's something to all this peace talk," Yawkey said Thursday night. "But he didn't seem to think there was much chance of the war ending soon."

"Ted wrote that the Communists are talking peace but at the same time are sending down more men and supplies and building up all along the front," Yawkey explained.

Judy Phelps Shows Way

Bowling Bug Continues Attack on Women

The bowling bug continues to afflict Marion women.

So say John Kayatin, owner of Marion Recreation, and Jerry Stephenson, who is co-owner of Palace Recreation along with Henry and Stanley Krausz.

Both agree that the women's interest in bowling is continually growing in Marion.

Certainly one of Marion's top bowlers is Judy Phelps. She posted the season's high series, for women, a 615, as a sub in the Ladies Commercial League, and her 598 is tops in the Ladies All Star League. She also boasts a 232-563 in the Thursday Afternoon Ladies League, tops in the league this campaign.

She finished with a 163 average in the Thursday Afternoon Ladies League where she bowled with May's Jewelers, and sports a 167 average with Carl's Auto Parts in the Ladies All Star League and a 166 average with Marion Industries No. 1 in the Ladies Commercial League.

Began in 1939

The ace kegler began her bowling career in 1939 and except for about a two years' interruption during the war has bowled in at least one league and sometimes two every season. She and her husband, Lafe, a carpenter, reside at 408 Pearl St.

Stephenson points out that the Mom and Pop League, which is in session Sunday afternoons at Palace Recreation, is new this year and Kayatin explains that the Mr. and Mrs. League, at Marion Recreation Sunday evenings, just began at the close of last season.

Stephenson adds that the Thursday Afternoon Ladies League, which held eight teams last year, includes ten this year, and says plans call for the addition of two more squads next season.

This means that there are 50 more women bowling regularly this year. There are at present 270 women bowling in Marion.

In addition, both Kayatin and Stephenson say they have quite a number of requests by the women to either enter a present league or form a new one. They explain that the alleys are filled every night and that only a few afternoon spots remain open.

Along with the women's increasing interest in bowling, Kayatin and Stephenson say most of the women are improving their scores. In most of the leagues this year, women posted higher single game and series marks than last season.

Bratton Wins After Chasing Livio Minelli

CLEVELAND (AP)—Johnny Bratton voiced high praise today for Livio Minelli, his latest fight victim. But it wasn't for Minelli's boxing skill.

"That fellow can really run backwards—faster than I can forwards," the No. 2 welterweight contender said after his unanimous decision Thursday night. Bratton weighed 150½ to 152 for Minelli.

The Chicago battler didn't seem too happy about the contest. He had hoped an impressive victory would earn him a title bout, and although the verdict was unanimous, the margin wasn't exactly impressive to most fans.

Referee Tony La Branche had it five rounds for Bratton, three for Minelli and two even. Judge Herb Williams scored it 6-2-2 and Judge John Sayanek 7-2-1.

But most of Bratton's points were piled up on his harder punching and aggressiveness. Minelli, the ring - wise counter puncher bicycled backwards most of the fight, but landed at least three punches to every one Bratton got through.

"I tried everything I could to make him fight, but I just couldn't, Bratton said. "He wasn't really trying to win; he just wanted to keep from getting knocked out. I don't think he ever hought he would win."

Rumor Trade Brewing For Tribe, Browns

Indians Interested In Replacement For Glynn at First Base

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Baseball rumor people are whispering about a possible Cleveland-St. Louis deal—perhaps involving Brownie first baseman Dick Kryhoski.

General Manager Hank Greenberg, whose Indians take on the Brownies tonight, doesn't deny that he and St. Louis President Bill Veeck have been conferring, but he names no names and promises nothing.

"When you sit down with Veeck," he says, "you always talk about prospective deals."

Veeck made a special trip to Indianapolis Thursday night to talk with Hank and watch the Indians trim their Indianapolis farm club, 11-4.

The idea of trying to get Kryhoski would be to have someone with a more dangerous bat as a substitute for sidelined Luke Easter. The present replacement, Bill Glynn, just hasn't hit often enough.

Thursday night at Indianapolis was a big one for Bob Chakales, who spends most regular games on Cleveland's bench. He shut out Indianapolis for eight and two thirds innings.

Then Jack Baumer and Chico Escalers singled, and Mike Lutz, the Leavittsburg, O., outfielder, socked a three-run homer over the left field fence. Doug Hansen, Cleveland's optioned second baseman, hit the next pitch for another homer.

Commissioner Bell Silent on Report Of NFL-TV Agreement

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The usually talkative Bert Bell isn't speaking today about published reports that the National Football League is on the verge of signing an agreement to bring professional grid game coverage to the entire country in 1954.

Bell, the league's commissioner, met Monday with representatives of the 12 league clubs to discuss the television issue. No details of the discussion were released except that the topic had been television and that the club delegates were going home to outline the plan to stockholders and other interested parties.

Then Thursday, Hugh Brown, Philadelphia Bulletin sports columnist wrote:

"An amiable wedding between professional football and the television industry, involving a dowry of several million dollars is reported to be in the matchmaking state."

The deal, Brown said, if approved by the 12 club owners in 11 league cities (Chicago has two teams) would involve a sponsor identified as a producer of radios, refrigerators, automatic washers, deep freezers, television sets and garbage disposal units.

The Bulletin columnist said the proposal calls for a full schedule of pro football games on TV on Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoons—with the 11 cities receiving the programs except when their own team is at home.

mixed leagues. The fact that two new mixed leagues are in session this season bears that out. The league enables man and wife to bowl together, as well as boy and girl and even father and son and mother and daughter. Stephenson points out that some women are too shy to start bowling and that with a mixed league, they can bowl with husbands.

There are four women's leagues at each alley and each contains a pair of mixed leagues. At Marion Recreation, there are 112 women bowling in the Ladies All Star League. Bids Beat Deadline

Dayton, Springfield Want 1954 North-South Game

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The 1954 Ohio high school North-South All-Star football game will be held in Dayton or Springfield.

Bids from both Southwestern Ohio cities were received by Thursday night's deadline. The board of directors of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association is expected to choose today.

The 1953 contest, in which 50 of the state's top-bracket June graduates will participate, is booked for Aug. 14 in Canton.

Dayton's bid was filed by Percy Welcome, director of physical education and athletics in the Gem City schools. Supt. E. E. Holt, Director of Athletics L. G. Ronemus, and Carl Berg, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, offered Springfield's bid.

The scholastic coaches are in town for Ohio State University's annual grid clinic today and Saturday. More than 600 of the Buckeye mentors will hear head Coach Woody Hayes and his staff outline their ideas on how football should be played. Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech and two of his aides also were on the program.

The coaches will be guests of the university at a banquet tonight and will view the Buckeyes' an-

Zanesville and Chuck Thackera of Hamilton, with Vlerebome believed to have the inside track.

Waldo Service Couple Hold Reunion in Newfoundland

A Waldo couple in the service had a brief reunion recently when the husband managed a five-day leave at Pepperrell Air Force Base at St. John's, Newfoundland.

They are A-2c (Mrs.) Patsy Sue Porterfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Robb of Waldo, and IC3 Harold L. Porterfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde G. Porterfield of Waldo.

Seaman Porterfield, a communications technician, is stationed aboard the USS Rowe which had just completed a cruise to Cuba and Jamaica. The ship was tied up at Norfolk, Va., for two weeks and he managed the leave to the Northeast Air Command base.

His wife, Patsy, is a clerk typist in the 1997th Airways and Air Communications Squadron at the Newfoundland air base.

The couple were guests of both the 6600th WAF Squadron, of which Mrs. Porterfield is a member, and the 1997th AACS Squadron, where she is assigned for duty.

It marked the first time they have been together since they were married Dec. 20, 1952 at Sandusky when both were home on furlough.

Mrs. Porterfield was graduated from Waldo High School in 1950 and entered the service in June, 1951. Seaman Porterfield graduated from Waldo High School in 1949 and was employed with the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. in Marion for about two years before entering the service in January, 1951.

Seaman Porterfield was home for a few days' visit with his parents last week and then returned to Norfolk, Va., where he boarded the USS Rowe for another cruise. Mrs. Porterfield was stationed at Scott Air Force Base in Illinois for eight months before she went to Newfoundland.

55 Lisbon, Salem High School Boys Wind Up in Court

LISBON, O. (AP)—Authorities summoned 55 boys from Lisbon and Salem high schools to juvenile court today for a thorough airing of a scheduled gang fight that was broken up just before it started.

All members of the rival Dukes Club of Salem High and the Bumper Jumpers of Lisbon High, they were arrested Thursday night on Ohio 588. They were congregated four miles south of Salem, said police, in 15 automobiles, all ready to do battle.

But instead of fighting, the boys were driven to the Salem jail, where they spent several hours. Each one was questioned before he was allowed to go home.

County Juvenile Officer Cornelius Cespke said the grudge fight was scheduled because several Lisbon boys were thrown out of a house party given last Saturday by a Salem girl.

Bible Words to Live by

My favorite Bible "verse" is found in the 13th chapter of First Corinthians and, as translated by Dr. Moffatt, reads: "Love is very patient, very kind. Love knows no jealousy; love makes no parade, gives itself no airs, is never rude, never selfish, never irritated, never resentful; love is never glad when others go wrong, love is gladdened by goodness, always slow to expose, always eager to believe the best, always hopeful, always patient. Love never disappears."

This I can never read without being convicted of the shoddiness of my own contribution both in the family circle and in the wider relationships where good will is basic. Only one who lives close to God and draws on His power could possibly achieve this. But what if we could! How different homes and communities would be!

Foreign Aid Must Be Cut, Taft Insists

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today that unless present military and foreign aid plans are altered the Eisenhower administration may spend more in its first fiscal year than the Truman regime in its last.

Any such result could leave the Republicans on July 1, 1954—with the congressional campaign starting—showing a deficit of around five billion dollars instead of the balanced budget and lower taxes many of them promised in 1952.

Although Taft did not comment on this aspect, the Senate's majority leader said in an interview that on the basis of tentative military and foreign aid decisions spending will continue at a high level in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"It may be a little more than the current rate unless some economies are made that aren't certain now," the Ohio senator said.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey may be questioned on that score when he testifies before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today at a closed session on the foreign aid program.

Former President Truman estimated that in the fiscal year ending with next month, the Treasury would pay out $74,600,000,000. The actual amount may be somewhat less.

If the Republicans continue this level—which many criticized in last year's campaign as wasteful and extravagant—the outgo would be five billion dollars more than the 70 billions of spending Taft previously said would enable the administration to come close to balancing the budget.

The Ohio senator remained firm in the belief that the new administration will eliminate almost all of the spending increases proposed by Truman when he estimated $78,600,000,000 in outgo for the coming fiscal year.

But yesterday's announcement by Secretary of Defense Wilson that deliveries of military goods to other free nations would climb from the present level of $3,800,000,000 to five billion dollars in the next year gave Taft and other economy advocates little comfort.

The Ferguson System was introduced in this Country in 1939.
Most tractors then had drawbars. Three-point hook-up, Finger-tip control and Linkage were all new terms
Many people told you THEN that this System wouldn't work.
Today their story is quite different. Who can you believe?
Dollar for Dollar—Hook-up for Hook-up—Hydraulic for Hydraulic none can compare with the genuine original Ferguson System
There are many FOLLOWERS but only ONE LEADER
Be fair to yourself—Try the powerful Ferguson "20" with the genuine Ferguson hydraulic System on your own farm. You'll see the difference. No obligation

Steve Canyon — By Milton Caniff

GENTLEMEN, THIS HAS BEEN A MOST PROFITABLE GATHERING... FROM SETTING UP EXTENSION COURSES AT THE HIGH SCHOOL FOR JET BASE PERSONNEL—TO A PLAN TO GIVE LOCAL MERCHANTS A CHANCE TO MEET PRICES QUOTED BY OUT-OF-TOWN FIRMS ON GOODS SOLD TO THE BASE...
WE DON'T EXPECT MIRACLES BUT WE ARE MAKING A GOOD START! NOW, COL. CANYON, IS THERE ANYTHING ELSE?
YES, SIR! MUCH OF THE SUCCESS OF THIS PLAN WILL BE IN THE HANDS OF THE WOMEN OF INDIAN CAPE... COULD WE ARRANGE A GATHERING WHERE I MAY MEET THEM?
HMM—MAYBE OLD RAINN WAS RIGHT—THIS GUY MAY BE A MENACE TO THE CITY! IF MY WIFE THINKS HE WANTS TO TALK TO HER, I MIGHT AS WELL KICK OUT THE DOG AND MOVE INTO HIS HOUSE!
WHILE ALL THIS IS GOING ON, A NATIVE IN FAR-AWAY CHINA IS BEING GRILLED BY RED SOLDIERS...
I GO TO THE PEOPLES' SCHOOL OF POLITICS ON THE COAST! IT IS WRITTEN SO FOR THOSE WHO CAN READ!
IT IS AS HE PROCLAIMS! PASS HIM!

Mississippi Getting Rid of 1-Room Schools

JACKSON, Miss. (UP) — The "little red school house", like the mule-drawn plow, is fast disappearing from the Mississippi scene, and no one is choking up with nostalgia at its passing.

Of the more than 3,000 small rural schools scattered over the state prior to 1946, most were tumbledown, one room structures without even the bare essentials.

About one-third of these have been eliminated in the past six years. In their place have gone up more than 3,500 modern classrooms for both Negroes and
